Church Hits GOP Policies Here, Abroad

Keynoter Accuses
Ike Of "Tough
Talk, Small Stick"

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, a youthful orator from Idaho, keynoted the Democratic convention Monday night by accusing the Republicans of giving the nation a false "pitch-man prosperity" at home and substituting "showmanship for statesmanship" abroad.

Church charged that domestically the Eisenhower administration has pursued a course that threatens to make America "a modern Babylon of public want amidst private glut."

He declared that in foreign policy and in the world struggle with Communism, President Eisenhower has changed the slogan "speak softly and carry a big stick" for "talk tough and carry a toothpick."

Must Make Change

In the traditional keynote address which highlighted the opening session of the convention, the 36-year-old senator predicted the American people "are going to make sure that the man we nominate in this convention becomes the next president of the United States."

"We must make the change," Church said. "Our problems at home call for it. Our predicament abroad compels it."

He scornfully challenged Republican claims that the nation has prospered under the Eisenhower policies.

"I submit it is a pitch-man prosperity, the kind that results when government is run by hucksters not unaccustomed to selling inferior products by wrapping them in bright packages," the senator told the packed arena.

Questions Qualifications

Church was equally caustic about the conduct of foreign policy by Eisenhower and his advisers.

"For over seven years, they have staged it as though the world were a grandstand, where showmanship might be the easy substitute for statesmanship," he said.

He charged that under Eisenhower, the United States has sacrificed principle, lost prestige and diminished in power.

The young Westerner—the youngest member of the Senate—sharply questioned the qualifications of Vice President Richard M. Nixon to lead the nation in the critical cold war period ahead.

He declared: "We have watched our country shrink in stature, only to be told that Mr. Nixon, the single aspirant in either party who upholds the very policies that have led us into fiasco, is the very man best qualified to lead us out."

Church said the decisions to be taken in Washington now in the next four years "will determine whether or not our grandchildren shall be free."

"These are the grave stakes deeply involved in the coming national election and the mission of the Democratic Party is to re-awaken America to the mighty task before her," the senator told the delegates.

Congo Government Asks UN For Aid In Struggle

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — The government of the young nation has appealed to the United Nations for help in the bloody struggle against its mutinous army, which is pressing a campaign of terror against whites.

Kennedy Lists Candidates For Vice President

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy publicly recited Monday a list of governors and senators he would accept as a vice presidential running mate but declined to tap any one of them specifically.

Named as "under consideration and satisfactory" were Govs. Orville L. Freeman of Minnesota, Herschel C. Loveless of Iowa, George Docking of Kansas and Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington.

But the Massachusetts senator made it clear he would not announce his preference for any running mate until after he actually has the presidential nomination in his hands. This would be Wednesday at the earliest.

Nor did he completely close the door on the prospect of Sen. Stuart W. Symington or Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson coming under consideration as vice presidential nominees.

Convention On TV

LOS ANGELES (AP)—All three television networks—NBC, CBS, and ABC—plan to carry the second session of the Democratic National Convention on Tuesday, July 12, starting at 7 p.m. EDT. No special event pickups were scheduled.

Ike Requests Full Report On Plane Incident

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—President Eisenhower called on the State and Defense departments Monday for a full report on Soviet allegations it has shot down another U.S. plane.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said at the summer White House that until the President has received the report no government official will have any comment on the Moscow announcement.

The Soviet Union said Monday that 10 days ago it had brought down a U.S. Air Force reconnaissance plane which had been reported missing in the Arctic.

The Moscow announcement charged a violation of Soviet airspace and said two of the six-jet RB47's crew were captured after parachuting. The other four are dead or missing.

Troops Alerted For Congo Duty

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Monday alerted troops for possible duty in the mutiny-torn Congo, but left the decision to use them up to the United Nations.

The fledgling African republic has appealed to the U.N. for help in restoring order. Top U.S. officials said tough American infantry troops, already alerted in West Germany, could be rushed swiftly to the Congo—if the U.N. decides to intervene.

But, it was clear from cautious statements that the Eisenhower administration did not want to take the lead in the emergency. Authorities feared the Soviet Union might twist the action into a sign the United States wanted to snuff out the independence of the 12-day-old African nation.

Undersecretary Ralph Bunche of the United Nations, on the scene in Leopoldville, was understood to have recommended that "technical military assistance" be made available by the United Nations to help loyal Congolese army units stop the attacks on whites.

Japan Discharges Two-Stage Rocket

AKITA, Japan (AP) — Japan's largest two-stage rocket, a "Kappa 8," was successfully test-fired Monday at Michikawa Beach Rocket Center, 250 miles north of Tokyo. The rocket is 42½ feet long and weighs 1.46 tons. A spokesman for Tokyo University's Production Technique Research Institute, which launched the rocket, said Kappa 8 rose 68.2 miles in an estimated 130 seconds.

Cuba Accuses U.S. Of Acts Of Aggression

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Cuba accused the United States Monday of economic aggression and in a surprise move called for an immediate meeting of the U.N. Security Council to consider the charge.

Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa said the United States pursues a policy of intervention in Cuba's domestic affairs.

U.S. acts and threats, he said, "have brought about a situation which seriously affects international peace and heightens the tensions brought about by the collapse of the summit conference" at Paris in mid-May.

Roa's charges were in a sharply worded letter handed to the July president of the 11-nation Council, Ambassador Jose Correa of Ecuador. Correa began consulting delegates as to the time of the Council meeting—probably next Monday.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge was in Massachusetts on vacation but he prepared to rush back to New York. The U.S. delegation issued a statement in which Lodge said: "The United States has committed no aggression. It has shown great patience and forbearance and wants the world to know the truth."

Informed sources said the United States would not oppose putting the Cuban complaint on the Security Council agenda.

The Cuban move came amid these other developments:

1. President Eisenhower at his vacation headquarters in Newport, R.I., denounced Latin-American dictators and extremists—"both right and left"—as a threat to Western Hemisphere security.

2. Eisenhower announced a new U.S. goodwill aid program but indicated that if Cuba wants to get in on it the Castro regime will have to mend its ways.

3. Prime Minister Fidel Castro, ill with a pulmonary infection, promised he would be well by July 26, anniversary of his successful revolutionary movement. "This means a little rest for me and for the people, too," Castro said.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter flew back to Washington after conferring with Eisenhower on the Cuban problem. He said the United States would have to study the Cuban complaint before deciding whether or not to submit countercharges to the U.N.

Train Hits Bus

TREVISO, Italy (AP)—A military train rammed into a passenger train in the station at nearby Montebelluna Monday, killing three soldiers and injuring 25. Railway authorities said the military train had been switched onto the wrong track by accident. No one aboard the stationary passenger train was hurt.

Ike Blasts Dictators As Peace Threat

Says Cuba Regime Must Mend Ways Or Lose Aid Program

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Eisenhower denounced Latin-American dictators and extremists Monday as a threat to Western Hemisphere security. He said in substance the Castro regime must mend its ways if Cuba wants to be cut in on a U.S. goodwill aid program.

At a summer White House news conference the President sketched preliminary plans for such a program of United States help to south-of-the-border nations striving to improve their social and economic living standards.

Eisenhower's public discussion of the program undoubtedly was timed deliberately to coincide with this country's campaign to win the backing of Central and South American nations for the administration's toughening policy of Cuba.

Mentions No Names

The President did not mention Castro or any other Latin-American dictator or extremist by name. But he quite obviously was hoping for the passing of the troublesome Castro era in saying: "Latin America is passing through a social and political transformation. Dictatorships are falling by the wayside."

Eisenhower met with about 60 newsmen at the Newport naval base after he and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter had conferred for two hours regarding the aid program, the Cuban crisis and the Soviet Union's threats to intervene in that tense situation. Herter sat at the President's side during the news conference and then flew back to Washington.

There was no reference at the news conference to Cuba's request Monday that the United Nations Security Council meet speedily to examine the worsening of Cuban-American relations.

After he had outlined the U.S. goodwill plan, the President was asked whether he looks for Cuba to take part in the proposed program to benefit Latin-American nations.

Insists On Reform

In replying, Eisenhower left no doubt he would insist that the Castro regime reform to be eligible for any help from the United States.

"It would be only those nations," Eisenhower said, "who have shown a willingness and readiness to cooperate with the others in this great effort—especially with ourselves, because we are the ones making the statement"—or, outlining the program.

Newsman attempted to draw Eisenhower out on the Cuban crisis, but he declined to go into any detail. He did call attention to his statement of last Saturday which warned the Soviet Union that the United States won't tolerate any effort to set up a regime in Cuba dominated by international communism.

That warning came close on the heels of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's pledge of unconditional support for the Castro regime. The Kremlin leader also figuratively wagged Soviet rockets, saying they could smash the United States if it dared intervene in Cuba.

Eisenhower Monday called those Khrushchev threats rather crude. The President refused to react to a hint by Cuba's President Osvaldo Dorticos that his country might order the United States to abandon its Guantanamo naval base in eastern Cuba.

With a slow smile, Eisenhower declared: "Well, I will wait till I hear the demand on that one."

Demo Leaders Feel Stevenson Should Not Be Nominated

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California said Monday there is a feeling among top Democratic leaders that Adlai E. Stevenson's name should not be placed in nomination for president.

Brown said the thinking — he didn't identify the leaders — was that Stevenson would lose prestige as a prospective Cabinet officer by getting only 60 or 70 votes.

The governor, who is supporting Sen. John F. Kennedy, contends that a majority of California's 81 votes will go to Kennedy. Lt. Gov. Glenn Anderson told reporters that Stevenson, with 37 "solid votes," now has a plurality in the state's delegation.

U.S. Plane Shot Down By Soviet

Two Crewmen Of Missing Craft Held Prisoners

MOSCOW (AP) — Charging a violation of its frontiers, the Soviet Union announced Monday night it shot down 10 days ago a U.S. Air Force reconnaissance plane missing in the Arctic.

Two of the six-jet RB47's crew, were captured and face trial here. The other four are dead or missing.

The Russians declared this incident shows American aerial espionage continues despite President Eisenhower's disclaimers. The plane was shot down, by Soviet account, on July 1, exactly two months after U.S. pilot Francis G. Powers' U2 spy plane was downed in the Urals, 800 miles to the southeast of the area where the RB47 was lost.

The location was given as over Soviet territorial waters east of Svyatoy Nos Cape, a 10-mile long projection from the Kola Peninsula into the Barents Sea.

Ignored Orders

The plane had violated the state frontier 14 miles north of the cape, the Soviet Foreign Ministry said, and headed toward Archangel, a big terminus of the Arctic Sea route 240 miles to the south.

It ignored a Soviet fighter plane's orders to land, the Russians said.

"The new violation of the Soviet frontier by an American military aircraft testifies to the fact that the U.S. government continues to follow the same path, dangerous to the cause of peace," the Soviet government charged.

President Eisenhower promised Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at the abortive Paris summit conference in mid-May that the United States would send no more intelligence planes over the Soviet Union. Khrushchev dismissed the promise at the time as meaningless on the ground it would apply only through the closing months of Eisenhower's term.

Khrushchev has called a news conference for Tuesday.

Protests Fired

Protests over the RB47 case were fired by the Foreign Ministry to the United States, to Britain and to Norway.

U.S. Charge d'Affaires Edward Freers was summoned by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and handed a note protesting that Soviet air space had been violated.

Similar notes were given to Britain and Norway because the plane was temporarily based in England and was expected to land at a Norwegian Airfield.

The captive fliers, picked up by a Soviet vessel after they parachuted into the sea, are Lt. John R. McKone, 38, of Tonganoxie, Kan., and Lt. Freeman B. Olmstead, 24, of Elmira, N.Y.

The Russians announced they are under questioning and will be prosecuted "with the full severity of Soviet law."

Referring to Capt. Willard G. Palm, 39, of Oak Ridge, Tenn., Radio Moscow announced the chief pilot was found dead in a rubber raft.

A search was reported unavailable for the other crewmen—Capt. Eugene E. Posa, 38, originally from Santa Monica, Calif.; Lt. Dean B. Phillips, 25, of Inwood, N.Y., and Lt. Oscar L. Goforth, 26, of Sardis, Okla.

In disclosing earlier that the plane had vanished, the U.S. Air Force said it had been checking on northern magnetic fields off the coasts of Norway and the Soviet Union, in a survey intended to provide information for more accurate maps.

Mexico Not Backing Cuba

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Foreign Minister Manuel Tello said Monday two Mexican congressional leaders did not speak for the government when they asserted last week that Mexico would side with Cuba in its dispute with the United States.

Their views do not represent government policy, Tello said in an official statement aimed at clearing up a situation that has caused tension between the United States and Mexico.

He referred to remarks by Emilio Sanchez Piedras, chairman of the Permanent Commission of Congress, and Senate Leader Manuel Moreno Sanchez, a close friend of President Adolfo Lopez Mateos. Sanchez Piedras declared last Thursday Mexico stands with the Cuban people in the growing conflict between Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuban regime and Washington.

Sen. Kennedy Near Party's Nomination

Pennsylvania Puts 64 Votes Behind Massachusetts Solon

CONVENTION HALL, Los Angeles (AP)—Democrats scrambling for perches on Sen. John F. Kennedy's fast-rolling bandwagon roared into the opening session Monday night of a "this-is-our-year" national convention.

The wagon already had carried Kennedy within easy reaching distance of the convention's most glittering prize—the party presidential nomination—by the time a gavel banged the Democratic clans into session at 5:15 p.m. PDT.

Rivals still hunted desperately and gloomily for blocks to throw under the wheels. They didn't come up with any. Claims that they still had a chance had a booming hollow sound.

And as far as the nomination was concerned, the convention was just about over when it started, except for the formality of officially handing it over to the Massachusetts senator.

About Wrapped Up

The hefty 81-vote Pennsylvania delegation all by itself just about wrapped things up for Kennedy by throwing him 64 of its votes. Washington chipped in a few, New York provided some extra ones, and the release of delegates pledged to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota offered promises of still more.

And at the hour the convention got under way, with prayer, patriotism and ritual, the readings on the Associated Press unofficial scoreboard first ballot went like this:

Needed to nominate, 761 votes. Promised to Kennedy, and with more on the way, 682½.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, 302½.

Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, 79½.

Humphrey, 62½ that were ready to scatter.

Adlai E. Stevenson 46½.

Others, 175.

Uncommitted, 172½.

Here in this huge hall, Democrats told cheering fellow Democrats that this is their year—that they have to win and are going to win against Vice President Richard M. Nixon of the GOP. That was a theme that ran through speech after speech, and the keynote address of Sen. Frank Church of Idaho.

One Republican did get in on the oratory. Mayor Norris Poulson was allowed to offer a nonpolitical welcome to Los Angeles.

Accuses Republicans

Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California spoke in welcome, too. And he was strictly partisan in accusing the Republicans of moral corrosion, sham, distortion of truth and permitting America to drift for eight years in the shadow of an atomic catastrophe.

Hawaii and Alaska got a special salute from the convention. For the first time they were represented as states.

Seats in the delegate section of the convention hall were a little more densely populated than those stood ready to take the fight to the convention floor if they failed in efforts to get the committee to soften the plank.

CAPTURED — Lt. John R. McKone of Tonganoxie, Kan., is one of two U. S. fliers in Russian custody, according to an announcement by the Soviet Union. He was a member of the crew of a missing B47 reconnaissance plane which the Soviet Union said it shot down on July 1.

Battle Shaping Up Over Civil Rights Plank

BULLETIN

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The platform committee of the Democratic National Committee Monday night overwhelmingly approved a strong civil rights plank bitterly opposed by Southern delegates.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A bitter battle over a strong civil rights plank shaped up at the Democratic National Convention Monday.

Stern-faced Southern delegates entered a closed session of the convention's 109-member Resolutions Committee all primed to speak their mind about the plank, which was approved Sunday night by a 20-member subcommittee.

The Dixie attitude was expressed in the crisp comment of one of their leaders, Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. of North Carolina — "I cannot accept it."

The plank pledges the Democratic party to use the full power of the federal government to end racial discrimination.

It commits the party to enactment of legislation empowering the attorney general to seek a civil injunction against those accused of employing discriminatory practices.

The plank also has a kind word for the sit-in demonstrations staged in the South in protest against Negroes being barred from eating places. These words galled the Southern delegates.

Ervin and Charles Block of Macon, Ga., also a member of the committee, said they probably would file a minority report on the civil rights controversy. They stood ready to take the fight to the convention floor if they failed in efforts to get the committee to soften the plank.

Real Business Over Before Demo Convention Started

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Most of the delegates, if not the candidates, are having a lot of fun at the Democratic convention, but it appears now that the real business was done long before anybody left home.

The real business, of course, is to choose the party's candidate for president.

It is generally believed now that Sen. John Fitzgerald Kennedy of Massachusetts already is the choice, although the formal voting doesn't start until Wednesday.

How so? Kennedy won seven straight state primary elections. His bandwagon was oiled months ago. His lieutenants, with precise timing, were the smoothest of operators. They persuaded political leaders to announce for him, kept him in the headlines, and capped this power-packed drive by bringing him to Los Angeles as the undisputed frontrunner.

This, in short, is a technique of the jet age.

Presidential hopefuls in the future will certainly think seriously of duplicating it.

If they do, the national convention—in the old-fashioned sense of looking over the candidates at the convention site, of bargaining and maneuvering there—is finished.

The main business will have been completed before the first badge, button and banner is printed.

But a convention has another function.

It is to assemble some 10,000 politicians and their mates in a pleasant city, far from home in most cases. There they put on funny hats and red-white-and-blue costumes, whoop and holler in hotel corridors, glad-hand their best friends and worst enemies, make speeches, see the sights, and have a high old time for about a week.

This side of the Democratic convention is going full blast, to wit—A group of Southerners whip up a demonstration for Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas in the Biltmore Hotel. "Faubus for president," they holler. A Northern Democrat, who is an ardent segregationist, accidentally gets caught in the crush. He covers his face with his hat when the photographers begin popping flash bulbs.

Somebody has plastered "Nixon" labels on the boulevard-stop signs in Los Angeles.

Kennedy fans, clad from head to foot in Kelly green, do an Irish jig to the music of a Puerto Rican combo banging on steel drums—a political feat of no mean proportions.

Ike Blasts Dictators As Peace Threat

Says Cuba Regime Must Mend Ways Or Lose Aid Program

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—President Eisenhower denounced Latin-American dictators and extremists Monday as a threat to Western Hemisphere security. He said in substance the Castro regime must mend its ways if Cuba wants to be cut in on a U.S. goodwill aid program.

At a summer White House news conference the President sketched preliminary plans for such a program of United States help to south-of-the-border nations striving to improve their social and economic living standards.

Eisenhower's public discussion of the program undoubtedly was timed deliberately to coincide with this country's campaign to win the backing of Central and South American nations for the administration's toughening policy of Cuba.

Mentions No Names

The President did not mention Castro or any other Latin-American dictator or extremist by name. But he quite obviously was hoping for the passing of the troublesome Castro era in saying:

"Latin America is passing through a social and political transformation. Dictatorships are falling by the wayside."

Eisenhower met with about 60 newsmen at the Newport naval base after he and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter had conferred for two hours regarding the aid program, the Cuban crisis and the Soviet Union's threats to intervene in that tense situation.

Herter sat at the President's side during the news conference and then flew back to Washington.

There was no reference at the news conference to Cuba's request Monday that the United Nations Security Council meet speedily to examine the worsening of Cuban-American relations.

After he had outlined the U.S. goodwill plan, the President was asked whether he looks for Cuba to take part in the proposed program to benefit Latin-American nations.

Insists On Reform

In replying, Eisenhower left no doubt he would insist that the Castro regime reform to be eligible for any help from the United States.

"It would be only those nations," Eisenhower said, "who have shown a willingness and readiness to cooperate with others in this great effort—especially with ourselves, because we are the ones making the statement"—or, outlining the program.

Newsmen attempted to draw Eisenhower out on the Cuban crisis, but he declined to go into any detail. He did call attention to his statement of last Saturday which warned the Soviet Union that the United States won't tolerate any effort to set up a regime in Cuba dominated by international communism.

That warning came close on the heels of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's pledge of unequal support for the Castro regime. The Kremlin leader also figuratively wagged Soviet rockets, saying they could smash the United States if it dared intervene in Cuba.

Eisenhower Monday called those Khrushchev threats rather crude. The President refused to react to a hint by Cuba's President Osvaldo Dorticos that his country might order the United States to abandon its Guantanamo naval base in eastern Cuba.

With a slow smile, Eisenhower declared: "Well, I will wait till I hear the demand on that one."

U.S. Plane Shot Down By Soviet

Two Crewmen Of Missing Craft Held Prisoners

MOSCOW (AP)—Charging a violation of its frontiers, the Soviet Union announced Monday night it shot down 10 days ago a U.S. Air Force reconnaissance plane missing in the Arctic.

Two of the six-jet RB47's crew, were captured and face trial here. The other four are dead or missing.

The Russians declared this incident shows American aerial espionage continues despite President Eisenhower's disclaimers. Ignored Orders

The plane had violated the state frontier 14 miles north of the cape, the Soviet Foreign Ministry said, and headed toward Archangel, a big terminus of the Arctic Sea route 240 miles to the south.

It ignored a Soviet fighter plane's orders to land, the Russians said.

"The new violation of the Soviet frontier by an American military aircraft testifies to the fact that the U.S. government continues to follow the same path, dangerous to the cause of peace," the Soviet government charged.

President Eisenhower promised Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at the abortive Paris summit conference in mid-May that the United States would send no more intelligence planes over the Soviet Union. Khrushchev dismissed the promise at the time as meaningless on the ground it would apply only through the closing months of Eisenhower's term.

Khrushchev has called a news conference for Tuesday.

Protests Fired

Protests over the RB47 case were fired by the Foreign Ministry to the United States, to Britain and to Norway.

The Russians announced they are under questioning and will be prosecuted "with the full severity of Soviet law."

Referring to Capt. Willard G. Palm, 39, of Oak Ridge, Tenn., Radio Moscow announced the chief pilot was found dead in a rubber raft.

A search was reported unavailable for the other crewmen—Capt. Eugene E. Posa, 38, originally from Santa Monica, Calif.; Lt. Dean B. Phillips, 25, of Inwood, N.Y., and Lt. Oscar L. Goforth, 26, of Sardis, Okla.

In disclosing earlier that the plane had vanished, the U.S. Air Force said it had been checking on northern magnetic fields off the coasts of Norway and the Soviet Union, in a survey intended to provide information for more accurate maps.

Mexico Not Backing Cuba

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Foreign Minister Manuel Tello said Monday two Mexican congressional leaders did not speak for the government when they asserted last week that Mexico would side with Cuba in its dispute with the United States.

Their views do not represent government policy, Tello said in an official statement aimed at clearing up a situation that has caused tension between the United States and Mexico.

He referred to remarks by Emilio Sanchez Piedras, chairman of the Permanent Commission of Congress, and Senate Leader Manuel Moreno Sanchez, a close friend of President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

Sanchez Piedras declared last Thursday Mexico stands with the Cuban people in the growing conflict between Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuban regime and Washington.

Sen. Kennedy Near Party's Nomination

Pennsylvania Puts 64 Votes Behind Massachusetts Solon

CONVENTION HALL, Los Angeles (AP)—Democrats scrambling for perches on Sen. John F. Kennedy's fast-rolling bandwagon roared into the opening session Monday night of a "this-is-our-year" national convention.

The wagon already had carried Kennedy within easy reaching distance of the convention's most glittering prize—the party presidential nomination—by the time a gavel banged the Democratic clans into session at 5:15 p.m. PDT.

Rivals still hunted desperately and gloomily for blocks to throw under the wheels. They didn't come up with any. Claims that they still had a chance had a booming hollow sound.

And as far as the nomination was concerned, the convention was just about over when it started, except for the formality of officially handing it over to the Massachusetts senator.

About Wrapped Up

The hefty 81-vote Pennsylvania delegation all by itself just about wrapped things up for Kennedy by throwing him 64 of its votes. Washington chipped in a few. New York provided some extra ones, and the release of delegates pledged to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota offered promises of still more.

And at the hour the convention got under way, with prayer, patriotism and ritual, the readings on the Associated Press unofficial scoreboard first ballot went like this:

Needed to nominate, 761 votes. Promised to Kennedy, and with more on the way, 682½.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, 302½.

Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, 79½.

Humphrey, 62½ that were ready to scatter.

Adlai E. Stevenson 46½.

Others, 175.

Uncommitted, 172½.

Here in this huge hall, Democrats told cheering fellow Democrats that this is their year—that they have to win and are going to win against Vice President Richard M. Nixon of the GOP. That was a theme that ran through speech after speech, and the keynote address of Sen. Frank Church of Idaho.

One Republican did get in on the oratory. Mayor Norris Poulson was allowed to offer a nonpolitical welcome to Los Angeles.

Accuses Republicans

Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California spoke in welcome, too. And he was strictly partisan in accusing the Republicans of moral corruption, sham, distortion of truth and permitting America to drift for eight years in the shadow of an atomic catastrophe.

Hawaii and Alaska got a special salute from the convention. For the first time they were represented as states.

Seats in the delegate section of the convention hall were a little more densely populated than those in the spectator areas. The arena holds 22,000 people for conventions and perhaps two-thirds of the seats were filled.

CAPTURED — Lt. John R. McKone of Tonganoxie, Kan., is one of two U. S. fliers in Russian custody, according to an announcement by the Soviet Union. He was a member of the crew of a missing B47 reconnaissance plane which the Soviet Union said it shot down on July 1.

Battle Shaping Up Over Civil Rights Plank

BULLETIN

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The platform committee of the Democratic National Committee Monday night overwhelmingly approved a strong civil rights plank bitterly opposed by Southern delegates.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A bitter battle over a strong civil rights plank shaped up at the Democratic National Convention Monday.

Stern-faced Southern delegates entered a closed session of the convention's 109-member Resolutions Committee all primed to speak their mind about the plank, which was approved Sunday night by a 20-member subcommittee.

The Dixie attitude was expressed in the crisp comment of one of its leaders, Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. of North Carolina — "I cannot accept it."

The plank pledges the Democratic party to use the full power of the federal government to end racial discrimination.

It commits the party to enactment of legislation empowering the attorney general to seek a civil injunction against those accused of employing discriminatory practices.

The plank also has a kind word for the sit-in demonstrations staged in the South in protest against Negroes being barred from eating places. These words galvanized the Southern delegates.

Ervin and Charles Block of Macon, Ga., also a member of the committee, said they probably would file a minority report on the civil rights controversy. They stood ready to take the fight to the convention floor if they failed in efforts to get the committee to soften the plank.

Real Business Over Before Demo Convention Started

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Most of the delegates, if not the candidates, are having a lot of fun at the Democratic convention, but it appears now that the real business was done long before anybody left home.

The real business, of course, is to choose the party's candidate for president.

It is generally believed now that Sen. John Fitzgerald Kennedy of Massachusetts already is the choice, although the formal voting doesn't start until Wednesday.

How so? Well, Kennedy won seven straight state primary elections. His bandwagon was oiled months ago. His lieutenants, with precise timing, were the smoothest of operators. They persuaded political leaders to announce for him, kept him in the headlines, and capped this power-packed drive by bringing him to Los Angeles as the undisputed frontrunner.

This, in short, is a technique of the jet age.

Presidential hopefuls in the future will certainly think seriously of duplicating it.

If they do, the national convention—in the old-fashioned sense of looking over the candidates at the convention site, of bargaining and maneuvering there—is finished.

The main business will have been completed before the first badge, button and banner is printed.

But a convention has another function.

It is to assemble some 10,000 politicians and their mates in a pleasant city, far from home in most cases. There they put on funny hats and red-white-and-blue costumes, whoop and holler in hotel corridors, glad-hand their best friends and worst enemies, make speeches, see the sights, and have a high old time for about a week.

This side of the Democratic convention is going full blast, to wit—A group of Southerners whip up a demonstration for Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas in the Biltmore Hotel. "Faubus for president," they holler. A Northern Democrat, who is an ardent anti-segregationist, accidentally gets caught in the crush. He covers his face with his hat when the photographers begin popping flash bulbs.

Somebody has plastered "Nixon" labels on the boulevard-stop signs in Los Angeles.

Kennedy fans, clad from head to foot in Kelly green, do an Irish jig to the music of a Puerto Rican combo banging on steel drums—a political feat of no mean proportions.

Young Survivor Of Falls Plunge Leaves Hospital

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (UPI) —Rodger Woodward, who amazed the world by surviving a 165-foot plunge over Niagara Falls, was discharged Monday from the Greater Niagara General Hospital.

The 7-year-old blue-eyed Niagara Falls, N.Y., resident was discharged from the hospital barely 48 hours after being swept over the Horseshoe Falls Saturday near Terrapin Point after a boat in which he, his sister, Deanne, 17, and a family friend, James D. Honeycutt, 40, were riding capsized in the swirling rapids of the Niagara River.

Rodgers' miraculous survival was attributed to a bright orange kapok life jacket he was wearing — far less protection than many stuntmen who had lost their lives attempting to go over the falls.

Just slightly bruised and cut, the blond 7-pound boy, who was pulled from the rushing waters beneath the falls, was pronounced well enough to go home.

The boy's sister was snatched from the brink of the falls by two American tourists. Honeycutt was believed drowned.

Honeycutt had taken Rodger and his sister out in the 12-foot aluminum boat as a way of celebrating Deanne's birthday which occurred last Tuesday.

U-2s Shipped From Japan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two American U-2 high altitude observation planes formerly based in Japan were disassembled and shipped back to the United States several weeks ago, a State Department spokesman said Monday.

A third Japan-based U-2 was returned to a Lockheed aircraft factory for inspection last April—shortly before a similar plane based in Turkey was shot down May 1 on a spy flight deep inside Russia.

Withdrawal of the controversial "black jets" from Atsugi Naval Air Station south of Tokyo to an unannounced destination was disclosed in Tokyo earlier Monday by Japanese Foreign Minister Aichihiro Fujiyama. Japanese "Yankee go home" demonstrators, assuming the U-2's were still there, staged a protest rally against them at Atsugi Sunday.

Until the State Department's announcement, there had been speculation the U-2's might be shifted from Japan to Okinawa or some other U.S.-controlled island base from which they could fly espionage missions along the Chinese Communist coast.

There are nearly 4,000 independent telephone companies in the United States.

Tinseltown Has Deep Interest In Convention

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Tinseltown found more humor than drama Monday in the Democratic National Convention.

Groucho Marx viewed the politicking with suspicion.

"Who am I for?" he asked. "I think McKinley will win, but I'm pulling for Cleveland—I'd like to see them take the American League pennant."

Barry Sullivan, a Kennedy man, said he is having domestic problems, thanks to the convention.

"My wife is for Stevenson, so things are pretty tense around the house," he said. "It could be worse. One of us could be for Nixon."

Comedian Mort Sahl said he was sure the next president would be a Democrat.

"The guy that will be running for the Republicans this year isn't representative of his party," Mort cracked. "I understand his golf game is lousy."

Taking the political scene more seriously is Frank Sinatra who is an all-out Kennedy supporter.

"I'm sure Senator Kennedy will be nominated," the singer said. "And if he is, I will do all I can to campaign for him throughout the country. But if someone else is nominated, I will also throw my energies into the campaign."

"I'll do all I can to stop Nixon."

Most interested of all the stars is Senator Kennedy's brother-in-law, Peter Lawford.

"I'll be at the convention every day," he said. "I'm sure Jack will win. He's proved he has the same kind of personal magnetism that President Roosevelt had."

Police Comb Forest For Boy

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — Two hundred police aided by helicopters and police dogs combed a desolate forest north of Sydney Harbor Monday for 8-year-old Graeme Hilton Thorne kidnaped last Thursday—several weeks after his father won $224,000 in a lottery.

An anonymous telephone call to Sydney police claiming that the boy had been seen one quarter of a mile from where his overcoat and lunchbox were found early Monday sent searchers rushing to Bantry Bay, an arm of Sydney Harbor.

The call — unlike one from a man with a foreign accent demanding $56,000 ransom for Graeme's return on the day of his disappearance—turned out to be a hoax, according to police.

Little Graeme, whose father Basil Thorne, a traveling salesman, hit the jackpot in a tax free lottery last June 1, disappeared on his way to school.

The kidnapping, apparently the first instance in Australia's history of the abduction of a child for money, touched off the largest police hunt ever organized here.

New Auto Insurance Plan Recommendations Seen

BALTIMORE (AP)—The chairman of the Legislative Council's Committee on Motor Vehicles said Monday he "definitely will have some recommendations" to offer on a new type of insurance plan being offered Maryland auto owners.

The 240 insurance companies in Maryland offering the plan since June 1 claim it will save drivers with good records money and penalize those with bad.

It came under fire of legislators at a hearing last Thursday.

Del. Edgar P. Silver (D-Balto 4th), the committee chairman, said he did not plan to hold any more hearings.

"After I study the notes of the hearing, I expect to have some definite recommendations to make," he said.

Silver said he plans to forward them to a commission appointed by Gov. Tawes and headed by Del. Joseph D. Tydings (D-Harford) to study all state insurance laws.

New Attorneys Appointed To Defend Rees

BALTIMORE (AP)—Melvin David Rees Jr. was given the free services Monday of two former prosecutors to defend him in a trial of two of the five murder charges against him.

Rees advised Federal Judge R. Dorsey Watkins in a letter that he does not have the money to hire counsel. The judge also was informed that Walter L. Green, who has been representing the 31-year-old jazz band musician, is "no longer in a position" to do so.

Judge Watkins then named William J. O'Donnell, former assistant state's attorney for Baltimore City, and William J. Evans, recently resigned as an assistant U. S. Attorney, to defend Rees.

This probably will cause a delay in the scheduled arraignment of Rees on Friday to plead to federal indictments he kidnapped and killed Mrs. Carrol V. Jackson and her five-year-old daughter, Susan.

The new lawyer said they want to talk to Rees and familiarize themselves with the case. Unlike court appointed lawyers in state criminal cases, O'Donnell and Evans will receive no fees from the government.

Meanwhile, Leon H. A. Pierson, the U. S. Attorney for Maryland, said the trial of Rees probably will start in late August or early September.

That will be only on the federal kidnap-murder charges of Mrs. Jackson and her daughter.

Rees also is charged in Virginia with the kidnap-murder of Jackson and another infant daughter. The family from Apple Grove, Va., disappeared in January of 1959.

Three months later, the bodies of the father and daughter were found buried in a sawdust pile near Fredericksburg, Va., and the mother and daughter in a woods near Gambrells, Md.

Rees was arrested originally June 24 in West Memphis, Ark., for allegedly fleeing prosecution for the murder of Mrs. Margaret V. Harold.

She was shot while sitting in a parked car with an Army sergeant in 1957 in the same Gambrells area.

Newport, R. I., became famous as the summer capital of society in the middle of the 19th Century, when industrial magnates built showy mansions there.

W.Va. Delegates Listen To All Democrat Hopefuls

By LOUIS G. PANOS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The experts say Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts has the presidential nomination sewed up, but this didn't keep West Virginia delegates to the party convention from showing Monday that they're still willing to listen to others.

Spokesmen for Kennedy and the two other major candidates—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Stuart Symington of Missouri—advised them.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan made the pitch for Kennedy, Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma spoke up for Johnson, and young James Symington represented his father.

Each spoke for about 10 min., but the caucus, shortly before the opening of the convention. The delegation took no formal poll, allowing each delegate to vote as he pleases when the balloting begins Wednesday.

After the caucus, Dr. Ward Wylie, chairman of the 25-vote delegation, said he still believes Kennedy will get about 19½ of the votes. But Johnson supporters, including Sen. Robert C. Byrd, said this seemed a bit extravagant and Johnson should pick up from five to seven of the state's votes with another two or three going to Symington.

Young Symington seemed to have made the strongest impression on the delegates by his forceful plea on behalf of the Missouri senator.

He was loudly applauded after declaring his father, in the 1954 controversy involving the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin, was the only man who stood up to him.

Winding up the caucus, Byrd promised that he would let no factional bitterness interfere with his support of the presidential nominee, even if Johnson failed to overtake the front-running Kennedy.

Youngsters Seek To Honor Sailors Who Died In Blimp

BALTIMORE (AP)—Fifteen Baltimore boys have asked President Eisenhower for permission to fly a flag at half-mast over their garage-clubhouse.

The youngsters, members of the Baltimore Junior Navy Club, want to honor the Navy men who died last Wednesday in the crash of a giant blimp off the New Jersey coast.

"Please, Mr. President," they wrote, "tell us that we can fly our new American flag at half-mast for the men who lost their lives in the waters of the Atlantic while on a mission of mercy."

The club was given a 50-star flag by the American Legion but cautioned that permission from the President was the law of the land. One Legion official encouraged them, however, by noting "This is the kind of thing the President usually signs."

William T. Baublitz, commanding officer of the club and a World War II orphan, composed the letter. The boys—8 to 15—organized to pursue mutual interests in naval affairs.

They also plan to hold a memorial service for the sailors who died in the blimp crash.

PRUDENT MANAGEMENT

The State of Massachusetts was a leader in defining the "Prudent Man Rule" which requires a director of a financial institution, or a trustee, to use the care a reasonably prudent man would use in the management of his own personal affairs. We have no "dummy" directors, but each one is personally financially interested in the affairs of the Association and is diligent and conscientious in giving his very best attention to its management.

There is no substitute for competent management by the directors, and this duty cannot be shifted to others or to any Governmental agency. We believe good management is the main reason why, in over 20 years since our organization, we have never suffered a loss on any loan.

New Auto Insurance Plan Recommendations Seen

BALTIMORE (AP)—The chairmen of the Legislative Council's Committee on Motor Vehicles said Monday he "definitely will have some recommendations" to offer on a new type of insurance plan being offered Maryland auto owners.

The 240 insurance companies in Maryland offering the plan since June 1 claim it will save drivers with good records money and penalize those with bad.

It came under fire of legislators at a hearing last Thursday.

Del. Edgar P. Silver (D-Balto 5th), the committee chairman, said he did not plan to hold any more hearings.

"After I study the notes of the hearing, I expect to have some definite recommendations to make," he said.

Silver said he plans to forward them to a commission appointed by Gov. Tawes and headed by Del. Joseph D. Tydings (D-Harford) to study all state insurance laws.

lives in the waters of the Atlantic while on a mission of mercy."

The club was given a 50-star flag by the American Legion but cautioned that permission from the President was the law of the land. One Legion official encouraged them, however, by noting "This is the kind of thing the President usually signs."

William T. Baublitz, commanding officer of the club and a World War II orphan, composed the letter. The boys — 8 to 15 — organized to pursue mutual interests in naval affairs.

Jean Rowland Circle Gives $100 To Church

The Jean Rowland Circle of Melvin Methodist Church held its monthly meeting in the form of a wiener roast at Constitution Park. Fifty dollars was donated to the church expansion program and $50 also to the building fund.

Fellowship Celebrates Anniversary

The Young Adult Fellowship of Cresaptown Methodist Church celebrated its 20th anniversary and presented a gift to Miss Evelyn May in appreciation of her service as treasurer of the group for 18 years. The gift was a pin with her birthstone.

The celebration was held in the form of a banquet and program Friday evening at the church. Rev. Clyde Sindy, Lavalette, W. Va., formerly of Cresaptown, was guest speaker. Highlights of the fellowship's 20 years were given by Charles Frankenberg.

A reading was given by G. E. Broadwater. Mrs. Elaine Crowe sang a solo. A mixed quartet sang several numbers. It was composed of Mrs. Elizabeth Higgs, Mrs. Crowe, Hayes Robinette and James Glover. There also was a duet by Mrs. Crowe and Mrs. Higgs and group singing led by Mr. Glover. In conclusion the group formed a circle and sang, "Bless Be the Tie that Binds."

Past presidents were recognized. All the women were presented with corsages and the men received boutonnieres.

The August meeting will be held at the Borror's cottage.

Busy mother of three finds telephone gives 21 extra hours in two weeks...saves $17³⁸ and 200 miles of traveling

Mrs. Duden uses her phone to find out if a local fabric store has some material she needs.

Mrs. H. Richard Duden of Annapolis recently kept a two-week record of all her family's telephone calls. For each call she also estimated any expense, time and traveling that were saved by being able to telephone.

At the end of two weeks, her tally showed that the telephone had given them almost a full day of extra time, and had saved far more in traveling expenses than the cost of their telephone service. Whether it was a call to summon a washer repairman or rounding up the youngsters, the phone made busy days easier.

Mrs. Duden found, too, that some calls provide pleasure and peace of mind that can't be measured in time or money saved. For instance, her husband who is an insurance representative and football coach, had to make a business trip to Florida. His Long Distance call to the family went into a "special" category of her telephone diary.

Perhaps you might like to keep a diary to see what your telephone does. We think you'd find, too, that your telephone saves much more in time, trouble and expense — than the cost of having it.

Busy mother of three finds telephone gives 21 extra hours in two weeks...saves $17³⁸ and 200 miles of traveling

Mrs. Duden uses her phone to find out if a local fabric store has some material she needs.

Mrs. H. Richard Duden of Annapolis recently kept a two-week record of all her family's telephone calls. For each call she also estimated any expense, time and traveling that were saved by being able to telephone.

At the end of two weeks, her tally showed that the telephone had given them almost a full day of extra time, and had saved far more in traveling expenses than the cost of their telephone service.

Whether it was a call to summon a washer repairman or rounding up the youngsters, the phone made busy days easier.

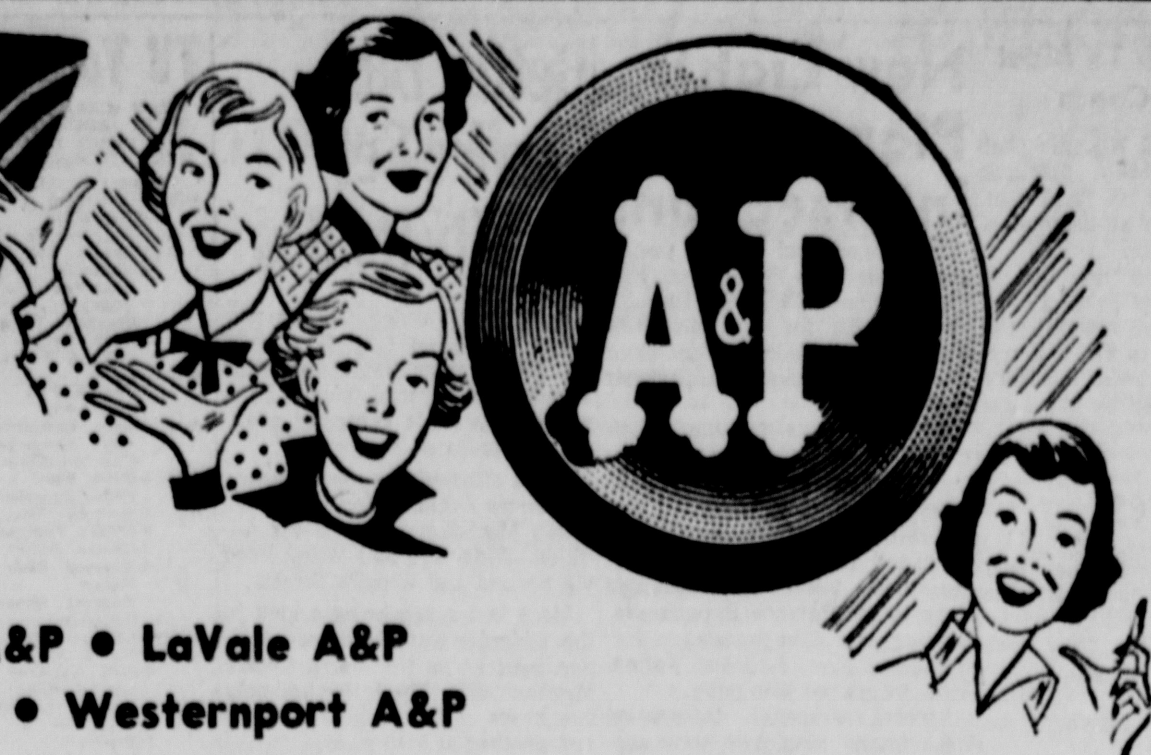

Mrs. Duden found, too, that some calls provide pleasure and peace of mind that can't be measured in time or money saved. For instance, her husband who is an insurance representative and football coach, had to make a business trip to Florida. His Long Distance call to the family went into a "special" category of her telephone diary.

Perhaps you might like to keep a diary to see what your telephone does. We think you'd find, too, that your telephone saves much more in time, trouble and expense — than the cost of having it.

no squabbling among the delegates. The party chairman, the governor's closest political adviser, said Birmingham "has been very diligent" in the job.

"The administration and Mike get along very well together," he said.

The unanimous re-election of Birmingham and Mrs. Otenasek was then recited off.

New Lights Planned At Intersections

The Mayor and Council yesterday authorized Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming to advertise for bids on three traffic lights, following up plans announced by the commissioner recently.

Bids on lights for the Dingle Circle, Williams Street and the Laing Avenue-Virginia Avenue intersections will be asked, Fleming said.

Council received bids on fleet insurance today and referred them to the Finance Department. Bidding are Erie Insurance Exchange of Erie, Pa., and Nationwide Insurance Company.

Several seasonal Recreation Department employees were approved. Perry S. Shelton was named tennis instructor at $4 a session; and Sue Silcox Merritt, Gary M. Mower, Andrew C. Penbrink, Robert L. Wiseman and Walter W. Reed, swimming instructors, at $1 an hour.

Street Commissioner John J. Long was authorized to advertise for bids for repairing the concrete stairway between Lee and Wallace streets. Long also was authorized to ask bids on improvements to Frederick Street, Forster and Pearre avenues, ordinances for which were approved yesterday.

Ball Player Hurt

William Norris, 16, of 520 Dryer Avenue, was admitted to Memorial Hospital last night for observation and X-rays after he was struck in the left temple with a baseball. The youth was playing in a game at Taylor Field when he was hit.

Better Bus Service Set On City Routes

Additional service will be provided by Queen City Bus Lines on four routes beginning next Monday on a trial basis, Lawrence Grim, bus company president, announced yesterday.

To be affected are these routes: Baltimore Avenue, North Centre-North Mechanic; Carpenter's Addition-Ridgeley; and Wiley Ford via Second and Wineow Streets.

More buses are being added to the Ridgeley and Baltimore Avenue runs as on the North Centre-Mechanic trip. The latter had only two buses a day, one at 9 a.m. and another at 5:10 p.m.

The only change in the Wiley Ford service is that from 6:25 a.m. leaving that town until the 5:10 p.m. trip from Baltimore Street the bus will travel over Wineow Street and Second Streets.

Grim said additional service will be offered by the bus company provided Cumberland residents continue their support.

The new schedules effective next Monday on a trial basis are:

Baltimore Avenue
Leave Baltimore Street - 6:15 a.m.; 7:55 a.m.; 9:55 a.m.; 11:55 a.m.; 1:55 a.m.; 3:55 p.m.; and 5:10 p.m.

Leave Baltimore Avenue - 6:20 a.m.; 8 a.m.; 10 a.m.; noon; 2 p.m.; 4 p.m.; and 5:15 p.m.

North Centre-North Mechanic
Leave Baltimore Street via North Centre - 7:45 a.m.; 9:45 a.m.; 11:45 a.m.; 1:45 p.m.; 3:45 p.m.; 5:10 p.m.

Leave intersection of North Centre and North Mechanic via North Mechanic - 7:50 a.m.; 9:50 a.m.; 11:50 a.m.; 1:50 p.m.; 3:50 p.m.; 5:20 p.m.

Carpenter's Addition-Ridgeley
Leave Baltimore Street - 6:45 a.m.; 8:45 a.m.; 10:45 a.m.; 12:45 p.m.; 4:45 p.m.

Leave Carpenter's Addition - 6:55 a.m.; 8:55 a.m.; 10:55 a.m.; 12:55 p.m.; 2:55 p.m.; 4:55 p.m.

Wiley Ford via Second and Wineow
Leave Baltimore Street - 7:10 a.m.; 8:10 a.m.; 9:10 a.m.; 10:10 a.m.; 11:10 a.m.; 12:10 p.m.; 1:10 p.m.; 2:10 p.m.; 3:10 p.m.; 4:10 p.m.; 5:10 p.m.

Leave Wiley Ford - 6:25 a.m.; 7:30 a.m.; 8:30 a.m.; 9:30 a.m.; 10:30 a.m.; 11:30 a.m.; 12:30 p.m.; 1:30 p.m.; 2:30 p.m.; 3:30 p.m.; 4:30 p.m.

Beginning with the 5:30 p.m. trip, from Wiley Ford, this bus will use the Maryland and Virginia Avenue route.

Group Happy Over Paving

Members of the Mayor and Council were stunned briefly, to say the least.

An ordinance for the paving and curbing of Forster Avenue, between Frederick and Bedford Streets, had just been approved. State Senator Charles M. See who was in the audience, got to his feet and said:

"There are four or five of us here who own property on Forster Avenue. We want to thank you for passing this ordinance."

The glow didn't last too long. Council then introduced an ordinance for improving Pearre Avenue between Frederick and Bedford and a petition signed by eight residents protesting the move was read. Council passed the ordinance unanimously, however.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband's kooky sister thinks she knows everything. Donna has four children. They're always coughing and wheezing and getting every kind of childhood disease in the book. Last winter they had measles, chicken-pox, and scarlet fever, assorted allergies, colds, flu, earaches, and sore throats.

Several days ago she came to my house (I have three children under seven years of age) and one of her youngsters looked as if he had the mumps. When he complained of soreness behind his ears I took his temperature (it was 102).

I said "Donna, I think Glen has the mumps." She replied, "I think so, too." I then told her she had a nerve to bring him to my house and expose my youngsters. She said, "It's healthy for kids to get everything early."

I am furious because my two kids came down with the mumps yesterday. Is she right?

—KOOKY'S SISTER-IN-LAW

DEAR MOTHER: Your kooky sister-in-law is mistaken. Your doctor will tell you that every normal precaution should be taken to protect children against all diseases.

It's stupid for a mother to take a sick child anywhere. A youngster with a fever should be at home. Furthermore, most children get enough illnesses without inviting more. She did you no favor.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm the mother of five school-age children. I must work to support the family because my husband is ill.

A woman lives near us who is separated from her husband. She calls my husband almost every day to help her out of an "emergency." He has fixed her lights, gone to the store, (in her car) torn off a door because the key was lost, untangled her dog from his chain, fixed the plumbing in her kitchen, taken off her storm windows and moved stuff from the attic to the basement.

I think she makes up excuses to see him. Am I being petty because I have to go to work and he doesn't? Please straighten me out.

—WORKHORSE WIFE

DEAR WORKHORSE: Any man who is capable of helping a neighbor out of the "emergencies" you describe ought to be able to help his wife out by getting a part-time job. I recommend it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 13-year-old son and his friend saved their allowance for weeks to hear a well-known pianist. They took along autograph books in case they were lucky enough to see the celebrity after the concert.

About 5 in the afternoon Buddy came home with a long face. I asked what was wrong. He said the concert was great but afterwards he and his pal went to the stage door and after waiting for an hour the pianist appeared. He brushed them aside and said his hands were too tired.

My husband was furious and suggested the boys write a scolding letter. What is your advice?

—B'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: A letter is a good idea, but not a "scolding" one. Something like this would be more effective:

DEAR —: My name is Buddy, and I am 13 years old. My friend and I saved for a long time to buy tickets to your concert. It was great. We waited for an hour at the stage door to get your autograph. You refused us, because your hands were tired. Our hands were tired, too—from applauding. Thank you anyway.

Council Urged To Honor Agreement On Paving

Frederick Street residents urged the Mayor and Council yesterday to honor an agreement made during a public meeting regarding the sharing of cost in paving, curbing and improving a section of the thoroughfare.

Council passed the ordinance for paving and curbing Frederick Street from Decatur Street to Linden Street and for laying a new base from Linden to the area in front of Keiter's Store. Mayor J. Edwin Keicher said the cost would be taken into consideration when bids are received.

This project is included in the 50-50 cost sharing program for improvement of local streets. However, Frederick Street residents at a public meeting attended by more than 100 several weeks ago, said they did not believe they were responsible for the base nor replacing the curb, which they said had been damaged by a private contractor.

Attorney Thomas N. Berry, representing the residents, said yesterday was not clear. He said it was his understanding and that of the people he represented that the city had agreed to pay cost of laying the base and replacing the curb and residents would pay half the cost of resurfacing. The ordinance passed yesterday provides only for the city to pay all the cost of the new base.

As for the curb, Berry said

Police Car, Auto Collide

Considerable property damage was caused yesterday when a police cruiser and another car collided on Baltimore Street.

The accident occurred at 6:50 a.m. at the intersection of Baltimore and Liberty Streets. Officer James Stewart who was operating the cruiser on Liberty Street, said he was struck by a vehicle being operated by William Robert Hout, 18, of Star Route, Flintstone.

Officer Richard L. Maers, who investigated, said traffic was backed up from the Western Maryland Railway crossing past Center Street. He stated that Officer Stewart pulled out onto Baltimore Street, came to a dead stop and was struck by the Hout vehicle.

Officers said Hout was traveling in the left lane of traffic since the right lane was blocked with cars. Officer Maers placed a traffic charge against the youth.

The cruiser was towed from the scene, and considerable damage was caused to the Hout car.

'Child Labor' And The Value Of Work

Thought of children working in mines and quarries is revolting to the Western conscience. Such exploitation belongs to a remote past.

A report of the International Labor Organization in Geneva reveals that millions of children in Asian and Latin American countries are employed at hard physical labor. "In some parts of the world," says the report, "working children under 15 years old form a substantial part of the total labor force."

It was — and perhaps still is — a weight-carrying test which decided pay rates in some Asian countries. A boy coolie became a man coolie when he could lift 80 pounds from the floor to his head and carry it 50 yards. His pay increased accordingly.

A sense of outraged pity is the natural reaction to accounts of children condemned to heavy toil that is beyond their physical strength. But this indignation should be reserved for the excess of toil and not for work itself which is essential at all ages for proper mental balance and physical health.

Civilization tends to the view that childhood should be entirely free of responsibility and duty. The pendulum has swung far in the opposite direction. However much automation there is in the future, there will still be need for individual work and service to family, community and country, and teaching how to make this contribution cannot begin too early.

It is a delicate decision to find the proper balance between education, recreation and the physical capacity to make this contribution. Without this education in the art of work and service there will be no givers, only takers.

Some Asian and Latin American countries still suffer from the cruel necessities imposed in past times. But while we feel pity, work itself should not be regarded as a sin at any age.

Candidates And Health

Always at this time, somebody gets all excited and proposes that candidates be examined for their health. The proposal is that a physician do the examining, but why not a psychiatrist? Precisely what can a physician predict over a four-year period? Can he tell that some time during the four or eight-year period a brain tumor will or will not develop? How much can a cardiograph really tell? Have you ever heard of a man leaving the doctor's table after a thorough examination and dropping dead on the doctor's doorstep? The Founding Fathers had more sense. They provided a Vice President to take the President's place if the latter died in office. That is about as much protection as any country can have. The rest must be left to God. The man whom many still regard as a wonderful President, Theodore Roosevelt, had tuberculosis when he was young and was sent to the Far West to regain his health. He became the apostle of the strenuous life. Woodrow Wilson died of a brain tumor, but before that he was looked upon as one of our more brilliant Presidents.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, the only President ever to have been elected for four terms, was crippled by polio and had to use a wheel chair. Among the present candidates, Lyndon Johnson once had a heart attack and John Kennedy once had Addison's disease. Both are healthy men, able to do more than the average man, delivering addresses all over the country, working at speeches, traveling distances.

It is nonsense in 1960 to make a fetish of sickness. Look at Dwight D. Eisenhower and the physical and mental strains that he has borne since his heart attack and his operation. The truth is that if one does not die, if he is not afraid and has the will to live, he can carry on as well after a heart attack as before, carrying his load, whatever it may be.

True, not everybody has the physical constitution of an Eisenhower or an Adenauer, but more than physique is involved. The will to live, the will to fight, the will to go ahead — these must exist in the person who has had a cardiac accident or a cancer operation. The Lord gave us two of most of our organs and if we lose only one, we are as good as whole.

One does not require a complete heart to get along. If our chemistry gets mixed up, wonders are done for us these days. There is no reason why a great brain needs a whole body. Suppose he lost part of it in war? Would we penalize him?

Let us cease playing God. The stethoscope and the fluoroscope and the cardiograph do not decide whether a man will make a good President. Beyond all these instruments, unmeasurable by any yet devised by man, are the soul and conscience and character. These are the qualities which make for greatness. George Washington used false teeth and Abraham Lincoln was lank and ungainly; are they not the noblest Presidents we have had?

The man who will be elected next November may be young and strong in November, but what of his health in May? Who is so smart as to know what happens to the psyche of one who suddenly possesses power? In this country, we have thus far been fortunate that none of our Presidents have gone mad in office. It could happen. And who can tell that years in advance? Who knows what a schizo really is and when it jumps the line between reason and illusion?

Let us elect our President by our ballots, not by the blood-pressure machines. Any observant patient knows that that is never a sure measure. In fact, I who still have to watch these things know what a load of work I can carry now that I do not waste my energy building fat but use it to do my work.

It would make more sense investigating candidates' wives than their lives. Nothing can strike a man harder in such an office as the Presidency than to have a wife who does not care, or one who cares too much and meddling. I have one such in mind.

Johnson Is Personal Favorite Of Delegates

By David Lawrence

LOS ANGELES, July 11 — It's the political paradox of the century: Senator Kennedy has the votes to win the nomination, but a majority of the delegates themselves, if they had not been irrevocably committed in advance to the Massachusetts Senator, would vote this week for Senator Lyndon Johnson. For the Texas Senator is the real choice of the delegates here.

There's no doubt about it. Every conversation with key men in various delegations confirms that appraisal. The feeling is that Johnson could surely win in November and that Kennedy is likely to be beaten by Nixon. The contrast is between a youthful candidate and an experienced leader. Then why doesn't the convention nominate the man of its choice? That's a good question, and to answer it one must be familiar with the arts of pre-convention strategy and the influence of organization politics at the local level.

Again and again, as one talks to delegates of the independent type, they bemoan the fact that deals and trades inside the states have brought Senator Kennedy his delegate strength. They tell of the early efforts of pro-Kennedy men extending back for four years. It takes time and money to line up a first or second ballot victory such as Senator Kennedy has in sight.

Some estimates are that $5,000,000 has been spent in the Kennedy movement. This means that commitments were made months ago. It shouldn't be inferred that votes were actually bought, but in politics the ambitions are ready to give their support for what they can get out of it later, either through appointments to office or other favors in federal, state or city governments. The Kennedy strength is incalculably greater than his opponents ever believed. When any candidate gets within hailing distance of a nomination, only a miracle can prevent his winning it.

Admittedly, Nixon's proposals, aimed in Minot, N.D., did not constitute a complete farm program. Nixon explained there were some aspects he could not discuss — such as price supports — because they are contained in legislation pending before Congress on which the Eisenhower administration has taken a stand.

However, Nixon aides had hoped for a fair measure of enthusiasm for some of the proposals. They were disappointed that his anti-inflation argument did not go over better, for instance. Nixon made the point that inflation hurts the farmer most because the prices of things he pays for go up rapidly while farm products, laboring under huge surpluses, remain depressed.

Ironically, the feature that stirred the most enthusiasm was one he borrowed from his rival and critic, New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, that the government should store a year's supply of food against the threat of an atomic attack.

Swimming Pool Imposes Responsibilities

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dollen

The home swimming pool no longer is a luxury enjoyed by only a few. The nation's back yards are dotted with these coolers and they are used by millions of property owners and their children and friends. The exercise, relaxation, and sunshine they provide should contribute to good health.

But the owner has a tremendous responsibility that may lead to a few sleepless nights. He is liable for the safety and welfare of anybody, invited or not, who uses the pool. It doesn't make much difference whether the pool is full or empty, big enough to accommodate the Olympics or a portable job 6 feet in diameter and 1 foot deep. As a result, it should be as foolproof as possible to minimize the hazards.

All back yards with a swimming pool should be enclosed in a good fence with a tamperproof lock on the gate. Locate the pool in an area where someone can see it from the house. An alarm is available that rings when the water rises because someone has jumped in. This is turned off when the pool is in use but helps at other times to detect the uninvited plunger, such as the toddler next door or a wandering drunken guest.

All users should know how to swim but when young children are present, a buoy line can be fastened across the pool to separate the deep and shallow sections. Keep a rescue device such as a pole or buoy handy at all times.

Pool sanitation is vital and local health authorities or the pool manufacturers will offer assistance along this line. Local rules on sanitary standards vary considerably. A pool is not a big bathtub. Bathe or shower before taking a dip and don't contaminate the water in any way.

Drowning is the most serious hazard but polluted water may lead to skin disorders, colds, or ear or nose infections.

TOMORROW: Discourage arteriosclerosis.

ARE TALL MEN BRAINIER?

R. B. writes: Does a person's height indicate his O. Q.? In other words, does a 6 footer have more gray matter than shorter men?

REPLY

There is no relationship between height and the intelligence. Quality and not quantity is what counts. After all, some apes have bigger brains than humans do but these animals never wrote a classic or developed atomic energy.

Both Kennedy And Johnson Have Suffered From Unfair Criticism

By Drew Pearson

LOS ANGELES—The Kennedy family leaves nothing to chance. Peter Lawford, brother-in-law of Sen. Kennedy and TV star in "The Thin Man," corralled 100 Hertz drive-it-yourself cars in car-scarce Los Angeles, plus 55 limousines. This was on top of 12 limousines reserved by Sen. Kennedy himself. When delegates want a lift to the convention hall, Kennedy cars can take them.

Kennedy has made a one-sided bet with Stewart Alsop of the Saturday Evening Post that he will pay Alsop $25,000 if he, Kennedy, runs for Vice President on a Stevenson ticket. Kennedy made a firm commitment. Alsop agreed to pay nothing.

Opponents of Sen. Kennedy are still probing what it was that Bobby Kennedy held out to Gov. Mike Di Salle to make him swing all the Ohio delegates to the Kennedy camp six months before the convention. They're checking on a rendezvous Governor Di Salle is reported to have had in a Pittsburgh motel with Bobby Kennedy and John Bailey, Kennedy's leader in Connecticut. Bobby Kennedy, then counsel of the McClellan Committee, had the power of subpoena and used it freely.

Johnson, on the other hand, has generally taken the easy course on foreign affairs. He has gone along with Ike's downward skidding foreign policy, and almost every time Ike has skidded further into a rut, Lyndon has slapped him on the back and wrapped the bipartisan flag around his shoulders.

Johnson's Critics

However, when it comes to solving the most important domestic problem facing the United States, it is my opinion that Johnson would do a courageous, constructive job in ironing out the bitterness that has upset the South. Many Negro leaders have been critical of Johnson. Their criticism isn't half as virulent as that of his own Southern friends when he bulldozed the civil rights bill through the Senate last winter. This was only the second civil rights bill in history to be adopted. And Johnson was largely responsible for passing both.

This brought cries of outrage from the South.

"Lyndon Johnson Becomes Eyesore In U. S. Politics," wrote the Mobile Register. "Smart Johnson Maneuver May Hurt Him in South," criticized the Pensacola Journal, while the Florida Times Union editorialized: "South Grows Crip of Machiavellism."

"The Second Face of Lyndon," was the way the Augusta, Ga., Chronicle described Johnson. The Macon, Ga., Telegraph advised: "South Should Look About for Johnson Replacement." . . . The Jackson (Miss.) News was the most vitriolic of all. Its editorial was captioned: "Lyndon Johnson, the Traitor." . . . The Columbia (S. C.) State called Lyndon's civil rights move a "slick trick," while the Anderson (S. C.) Independent warned: "Lyndon Johnson Could Outsmart Himself." . . . and the Nashville Banner, putting Johnson in the same category as "such highbinders as Humphrey, Douglas, Javits, and Morse,"

The Kennedy build-up of the last few months, including the intensive work done in the primaries on behalf of Senator Kennedy, has paid off. For everyone who has had experience with past political conventions knows that "bandwagon" psychology is. Most local politicians want to be found with the winner at the moment of his triumph. They watch a first ballot and, even while the voting is in progress, the switching from "favorite sons" or other candidates becomes a kind of panic.

A few decades ago the late Senator Claude Swanson of Virginia drew up a set of maxims for the guidance of politicians attending national conventions. One piece of wisdom was something to this effect: "Always climb aboard before the last car leaves the station — never be left behind."

There are many politicians who are pondering right now whether to desert their respective heroes and clamor aboard the Kennedy "bandwagon," but, even as they do so, they wish they could be cheering for Lyndon Johnson of Texas. For they think that, of all the Democratic aspirants, he alone can win in November.

The answer depends upon the cause of the heart trouble, whether the left or right ventricles are involved, whether the man is up and about or in bed, and the type of medicine he is taking. Many do well on digitalis, a low salt diet, and diuretics that remove excess fluid from the tissues.

Substitute therapy usually is helpful. Work harder or pursue a hobby that requires hard labor or the use of the hands. Some take a tranquilizer for a short time, whereas others find solace in eating apples or candy, chewing gum, or doodling.

ned, regarding the two top issues facing the nation.

On the question of foreign affairs, Kennedy has been criticized as inexperienced and uncourageous. On the other top problem, the race issue, Johnson has been called soft on civil rights.

As I have watched these two men in the Senate, I would say that Kennedy has had great courage on foreign policy. I do not agree with Mrs. Roosevelt. He even led the unpopular fight for foreign aid to the satellite countries against the position taken by many of his own churchmen.

Johnson, on the other hand, has generally taken the easy course on foreign affairs. He has gone along with Ike's downward skidding foreign policy, and almost every time Ike has skidded further into a rut, Lyndon has slapped him on the back and wrapped the bipartisan flag around his shoulders.

An Unusual Deal

By Leslie Gould

The undisclosed "buyer" of Frederick Richmond's stock holdings in Landers, Frary & Clark, this column learns, is one of the pension-retirement funds of Textron, the textile and industrial complex developed by Royal Little.

The pension fund "didn't buy the stock through choice" but beyond that the fund isn't talking as to the deal.

The secrecy on this unusual transaction is not hard to understand. Landers, Frary & Clark stock, while it may have long range appeal, is hardly "a prudent man" investment for a pension fund.

The stock has paid no dividends since 1957 when 25 cents a share was distributed. Standard & Poor's gives it a B minus rating. The company is in a highly competitive industry—household appliances.

The intriguing thing about this "purchase" is that it wasn't made "by choice."

This brings up the $64 question: Why was it "purchased"? If not by "choice" was it "inherited"—that is, did it come into one of the Textron group of pension funds because another associated fund or trust had advanced Richmond all or part of the money for its acquisition a year and a half ago when he hoped to "take over" the Landers company?

Richmond is a financial adventurer, who has figured in a number of "take-over" attempts. His most publicized was Follansbee Steel, where, if he and his group had had their way, the mill would have been dismantled at the cost of a thousand jobs in the small West Virginia town of Follansbee. Richmond made a "blind" offer at $16.50 a share for 25,000 Landers shares in November of 1958, using the Franklin National Bank of Long Island as a "front." His holdings, before the "purchase not by choice" by the Textron fund, were 50,845 Landers shares. He now holds around a thousand shares.

He and his group had larger holdings, for at the close of 1958 it was disclosed they held 19 percent of the then outstanding 420,000 shares.

Richmond moved in and was boss, until another group, headed by Harry T. Silverman, now president, entered the picture. The Silverman group got their Landers stock through sale to the company of the metal fabricating facilities of another firm controlled by them.

This is not the first time that a pension fund has figured in Richmond deals.

said "today the South sees Johnson for what he is."

Note—what's needed to solve the racial problem is statesmanship and understanding. Johnson has both.

Roosevelt Family Split

The Roosevelt family, except for youngest son John, who bolted to the Republicans, has stood like a rock together behind the same candidates. The issue of Jack Kennedy, however, split the family wide open.

The matriarch, Eleanor Roosevelt, made her opposition to Sen. Kennedy quite clear in her Saturday Evening Post series March 8, 1958, when she said Kennedy had dodged the issue of McCarthyism. Later, on ABC's College Press Conference, she was even more blunt.

"It has seemed to me that what you wanted in your next President was someone whose courage in taking stands was unquestioned. I don't think I need repeat here what I have said about Sen. Kennedy a great many times."

Mrs. Roosevelt's third son, Franklin Jr., soon deserted his mother and came out for Kennedy. It's been widely reported that he will be secretary of the Navy in the Kennedy Cabinet. Later Mrs. Roosevelt's eldest son, Jimmy, also deserted. He too came out for Kennedy. It was less widely reported that Kennedy had talked to him about running for Vice President.

Anyway, the head of the Roosevelt family is still standing pat for Stevenson.

Two Key Pennsylvanians

On small things turn the picking of Presidents. The two top political leaders of Pennsylvania, Congressman Bill Green of Philadelphia and Gov. David Lawrence of Pittsburgh, come from opposite ends of the state and don't particularly like each other. But both are Catholics, both Democrats, and up to a point have to get along with each other. Green can pull the rug out from under Lawrence's shaky support in the State Legislature any time. Lawrence has been against Kennedy, feels that too many Catholics on a Democratic ticket would elect Republicans. Lawrence, who did a great job as mayor of Pittsburgh, wants to do an equally constructive job as governor of Pennsylvania. But he can't do it without controlling his legislature.

Green, who bosses the politics of heavily Catholic Philadelphia, doesn't worry about the rest of the state. Privately he has favored Kennedy. On how these two city bosses solve their differences will depend the vote of Pennsylvania's huge 81-vote delegation, which in turn may decide the Presidency of the United States.

Johnson Is Personal Favorite Of Delegates

The Kennedy strength is incalculably greater than his opponents ever believed. When any candidate gets within hailing distance of a nomination, only a miracle can prevent his winning it.

The "stop Kennedy" plots have been numerous, but one by one they are proving illusory. For the fact is that the Massachusetts Senator has solid commitments. His lieutenants have done their work well. They didn't rely on mere promises of support. They actually selected the delegates in local organizations who would stand by the Massachusetts Senator through thick and thin. One hears a good deal, too, about the religious issue. But it is in a form that's beneficial to Senator Kennedy. Thus in Pennsylvania, where Governor Lawrence has been trying to steer a middle course, the pressure from down the line, especially at the local precinct level, is substantial. The governor is a Catholic and has dreaded seeing the religious issue dragged into the campaign, but in the end he will have to succumb to pressure or find himself at odds with large numbers of Catholic voters in his state.

That's the way the dilemma of the Pennsylvania governor is described by Pennsylvania sources. Unquestionably the governor would prefer either Lyndon Johnson or Adlai Stevenson. Perhaps last week the governor thought he could keep his delegation neutral, but now he has to release his delegates to vote as they wish.

Inside Washington

NIXON PROPOSALS — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's pre-convention swing into the West has been termed "satisfactory" by his backers, but privately some are expressing disappointment over the reception given his agricultural program.

Nixon and his aides had worked hard to come up with some proposals which would be acceptable to the politically disenchanted Midwest farmers, and at the same time not alienate economy-minded Republicans and independents in other parts of the country.

Nixon's key proposal — to create an international food give-away to the have-not nations through the United Nations — fell with a dull thud on his listeners' ears. Moreover, to nonpartisan experts in Washington, it is considered unworkable because they do not believe other farm surplus countries would co-operate. Admittedly, Nixon's proposals, aired in Minot, N.D., did not constitute a complete farm program. Nixon explained there were some aspects he could not discuss — such as price supports — because they are contained in legislation pending before Congress on which the Eisenhower administration has taken a stand.

However, Nixon aides had hoped for a fair measure of enthusiasm for some of the proposals. They were disappointed that his anti-inflation argument did not go over better, for instance. Nixon made the point that inflation hurts the farmer most because the prices of things he pays for go up rapidly while farm products, laboring under huge surpluses, remain depressed.

Ironically, the feature that stirred the most enthusiasm was one he borrowed from his rival and critic, New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, that the government should store a year's supply of food against the threat of an atomic attack.

Swimming Pool Imposes Responsibilities

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The home swimming pool no longer is a luxury enjoyed by only a few. The nation's back yards are dotted with these coolers and they are used by millions of property owners and their children and friends. The exercise, relaxation, and sunshine they provide should contribute to good health.

But the owner has a tremendous responsibility that may lead to a few sleepless nights. He is liable for the safety and welfare of anybody, invited or not, who uses the pool. It doesn't make much difference whether the pool is full or empty, big enough to accommodate the Olympics or a portable job 6 feet in diameter and 1 foot deep. As a result, it should be as foolproof as possible to minimize the hazards.

All back yards with a swimming pool should be enclosed in a good fence with a tamperproof lock on the gate. Locate the pool in an area where someone can see it from the house. An alarm is available that rings when the water rises because someone has jumped in. This is turned off when the pool is in use but helps at other times to detect the uninvited plunger, such as the toddler next door or a wandering drunk-en guest.

All users should know how to swim but when young children are present, a buoy line can be fastened across the pool to separate the deep and shallow sections. Keep a rescue device such as a pole or buoy handy at all times.

Pool sanitation is vital and local health authorities or the pool manufacturers will offer assistance along this line. Local rules on sanitary standards vary considerably. A pool is not a big bathtub. Bathe or shower before taking a dip and don't contaminate the water in any way.

Drowning is the most serious hazard but polluted water may lead to skin disorders, colds, or ear or nose infections.

TOMORROW: Discourage arteriosclerosis.

ARE TALL MEN BRAINIER? R. B. writes: Does a person's height indicate his O. Q.? In other words, does a 6 footer have more gray matter than shorter men?

REPLY There is no relationship between height and the intelligence. Quality and not quantity is what counts. After all, some apes have bigger brains than humans do but these animals never wrote a classic or developed a tonic energy.

Both Kennedy And Johnson Have Suffered From Unfair Criticism

By Drew Pearson

LOS ANGELES—The Kennedy family leaves nothing to chance.

Peter Lawford, brother-in-law of Sen. Kennedy and TV star in "The Thin Man," corraled 100 Hertz drive-it-yourself cars in car-scarce Los Angeles, plus 35 limousines. This was on top of 12 limousines reserved by Sen. Kennedy himself. When delegates want a lift to the convention hall, Kennedy cars can take them. . . . Kennedy has made a one-sided bet with Stewart Alsop of the Saturday Evening Post that he will pay Alsop $25,000 if he, Kennedy, runs for Vice President on a Stevenson ticket. Kennedy made a firm commitment. Alsop agreed to pay nothing. . . . Opponents of Sen. Kennedy are still probing what it was that Bobby Kennedy held out to Gov. Mike Di Salle to make him swing all the Ohio delegates to the Kennedy camp six months before the convention. They're checking on a rendezvous Governor Di Salle is reported to have had in a Pittsburgh motel with Bobby Kennedy and John Bailey, Kennedy's leader in Connecticut. Bobby Kennedy, then counsel of the McClellan Committee, had the power of subpoena and used it freely.

Top Candidates-Top Problems

Sometimes in politics people get kicked in the shins for doing what they didn't do, and belted over the head for being what they're not. To some extent this is true of the two top candidates, Lyndon Johnson and Jack Ken-neddy, regarding the two top issues facing the nation.

On the question of foreign affairs, Kennedy has been criticized as inexperienced and un-courageous. On the other top problem, the race issue, Johnson has been called soft on civil rights.

As I have watched these two men in the Senate, I would say that Kennedy has had great courage on foreign policy. I do not agree with Mrs. Roosevelt. He even led the unpopular fight for foreign aid to the satellite countries against the position taken by many of his own churchmen.

Johnson, on the other hand, has generally taken the easy course on foreign affairs. He has gone along with Ike's downward skidding foreign policy, and almost every time Ike has skidded further into a rut, Lyndon has slapped him on the back and wrapped the bipartisan flag around his shoulders.

Johnson's Critics

However, when it comes to solving the most important domestic problem facing the United States, it is my opinion that Johnson would do a courageous, constructive job in ironing out the bitterness that has upset the South. Many Negro leaders have been critical of Johnson. Their criticism isn't half as virulent as that of his own Southern friends when he bulldozed the civil rights bill through the Senate last winter. This was only the second civil rights bill in history to be adopted. And Johnson was largely responsible for passing both.

This brought cries of outrage from the South.

"Lyndon Johnson Becomes Eyesore In U. S. Politics," wrote the Mobile Register. "Smart Johnson Maneuver May Hurt Him in South," criticized the Pensacola Journal, while the Florida Times Union editorialized: "South Grows Crip of Machiavelli." "The Second Face of Lyndon," was the way the Augusta, Ga., Chronicle described Johnson. The Macon, Ga., Telegraph advised "South Should Look About for Johnson Replacement." . . . The Jackson (Miss.) News was the most vitriolic of all. Its editorial was captioned: "Lyndon Johnson, the Traitor." . . . The Columbia (S. C.) State called Lyndon's civil rights move a "slick trick," while the Anderson (S. C.) Independent warned: "Lyndon Johnson Could Outsmart Himself." . . . and The Nashville Banner, putting Johnson in the same category as "such highbinders as Humphrey, Douglas, Javits, and Morse."

An Unusual Deal

By Leslie Gould

The undisclosed "buyer" of Frederick Richmond's stock holdings in Landers, Frary & Clark, this column learns, is one of the pension-retirement funds of Tectron, the textile and industrial complex developed by Royal Little.

The pension fund "didn't buy the stock through choice" but beyond that the fund isn't talking as to the deal.

The secrecy on this unusual transaction is not hard to understand. Landers, Frary & Clark stock, while it may have long range appeal, is hardly "a prudent man" investment for a pension fund.

The stock has paid no dividends since 1957 when 25 cents a share was distributed. Standard & Poor's gives it a B minus rating. The company is in a highly competitive industry—household appliances.

The intriguing thing about this "purchase" is that it wasn't made "by choice."

This brings up the $64 question: Why was it "purchased"? If not by "choice" was it "inherited"—that is, did it come into one of the Tectron group of pension funds because another associated fund or trust had advanced Richmond all or part of the money for its acquisition a year and a half ago when he hoped to "take over" the Landers company?

Richmond is a financial adventurer, who has figured in a number of "take-over" attempts. His most publicized was Follansbee Steel, where, if he and his group had had their way, the mill would have been dismantled at the cost of a thousand jobs in the small West Virginia town of Follansbee.

Richmond made a "blind" offer at $16.50 a share for 25,000 Landers shares in November of 1958, using the Franklin National Bank of Long Island as a "front." His holdings, before the "purchase not by choice" by the Tectron fund, were 50,845 Landers shares. He now holds around a thousand shares.

He and his group had larger holdings, for at the close of 1958 it was disclosed they held 19 per cent of the then outstanding 420,000 shares.

Richmond moved in and was boss, until another group, headed by Harry T. Silverman, now president, entered the picture. The Silverman group got their Landers stock through sale to the company of the metal fabricating facilities of another firm controlled by them.

This is not the first time that a pension fund has figured in Richmond deals.

said "today the South sees Johnson for what he is."

Noise—what's needed to solve the racial problem is statesmanship and understanding. Johnson has both.

Roosevelt Family Split

The Roosevelt family, except for youngest son John, who bolted to the Republicans, has stood like a rock together behind the same candidates. The issue of Jack Kennedy, however, split the family wide open.

The matriarch, Eleanor Roosevelt, made her opposition to Sen. Kennedy quite clear in her Saturday Evening Post series March 8, 1958, when she said Kennedy had dodged the issue of McCarthyism. Later, on ABC's College Press Conference, she was even more blunt.

"It has seemed to me that what you wanted in your next President was someone whose courage in taking stands was unquestioned. I don't think I need repeat here what I have said about Sen. Kennedy a great many times."

Mrs. Roosevelt's third son, Franklin Jr., soon deserted his mother and came out for Kennedy. It's been widely reported that he will be secretary of the Navy in the Kennedy Cabinet. Later Mrs. Roosevelt's eldest son, Jimmy, also deserted. He too came out for Kennedy. It was less widely reported that Kennedy had talked to him about running for Vice President.

Anyway, the head of the Roosevelt family is still standing pat for Stevenson.

Two Key Pennsylvanians

On small things turn the picking of Presidents. The two top political leaders of Pennsylvania, Congressman Bill Green of Philadelphia and Gov. David Lawrence of Pittsburgh, come from opposite ends of the state and don't particularly like each other. But both are Catholics, both Democrats, and up to a point have to get along with each other.

Green can pull the rug out from under Lawrence's shaky support in the State Legislature any time. Lawrence has been against Kennedy, feels that too many Catholics on a Democratic ticket would elect Republicans. Lawrence, who did a great job as mayor of Pittsburgh, wants to do an equally constructive job as governor of Pennsylvania. But he can't do it without controlling his legislature.

Green, who bosses the politics of heavily Catholic Philadelphia, doesn't worry about the rest of the state. Privately he has favored Kennedy. On how these two city bosses solve their differences will depend the vote of Pennsylvania's huge 81-vote delegation, which in turn may decide the Presidency of the United States.

(Copyright 1960, By The Bell Syndicate)

Some of these pension funds, particularly where the employees make no contributions, have no restrictions as to investments. They also may make loans, including the financing of stock purchases by financial adventurers and "take-over" operators. Interest rates come high. The same kind of financing is done through Swiss and Hongkong banks.

This can be a risky business, particularly if the operator being financed fails in his "take-over" attempt. Then, the pension fund can become an "investor" in the situation.

Such financing gets around the Federal Reserve margin rules, now 90 per cent.

National Leaguers Win 28th All-Star Game, 5-3

Banks, Mays, Del Crandall Head Attack

Bob Friend Victor, Monbouquette Loser, Yields Four Runs

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International
KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs, returning to the baseball site where he was discovered, smashed a two-run homer for the National League All-Stars and started a key double play that produced a 5-3 victory Monday over the American League.

The 29-year-old Banks, who starred on this same field for the Kansas City Monarchs of the Negro National League before the Cubs signed him seven years ago, was the standout performer in the game played in oppressive 100-degree heat.

Bob Friend of Pittsburgh, the National League starter, was credited with the victory that narrowed the American League's margin of superiority to 16-12 over the National in All-Star competition.

A capacity crowd of 30,619 that jammed compact Municipal Stadium to every corner saw Banks power the National Leaguers to a three-run lead in the first inning and then bail them out with his clutch double play when the American League filled the bases and mounted their biggest threat in the sixth.

Monbouquette Hit Hard

Willie Mays of the Giants, a standout in his own right with three of the National League's 12 hits, opened the game with a resounding triple off loser Bill Monbouquette of the Red Sox. Bob Skinner of the Pirates singled Mays home.

Skinner stole second and Monbouquette appeared to be getting out of trouble when he retired the next two batters.

That brought up Banks, the National League's most valuable player last year who already has 26 homers in regular competition this season. Monbouquette got two quick strikes on the Cub slugger but Banks then rapped the next pitch far over the "short porch" in left field—only 330 feet from home plate—to score Skinner ahead of him.

American League Manager Al Lopez said he started Monbouquette because "he looked good" in blanking the Yankees last Saturday. He may have looked good against the Yankees, but he looked like money from home to the National Leaguers.

Crandall Hits Homer
Del Crandall of the Braves tagged him for another home run in the second inning and after Chuck Estrada of the Orioles took over the American League pitching in the third, the winners boosted their lead to 5-0 with another run.

Banks started it again with a double off the left field screen. Successive singles by Joe Adcock of the Braves and Bill Mazeroski of the Pirates brought in Banks. Friend, meanwhile, was having little or no trouble with the American League batting order.

The losers managed to get two men on in the first inning on Eddie Mathews' error plus a walk, but Friend pitched his way out of that jam by striking out two of the Yankees' chief threats, Roger Maris and Bill Skowron.

Ron Hansen of the Orioles, the only rookie in both starting lineups, singled with two out in the second for the only hit Friend allowed during his three-inning stint. Although Hansen advanced all the way to third on a balk and a wild pitch, pinch-hitter Ted Williams left him stranded by bouncing out.

Al Subs Team

Friend, who scored his first All-Star victory in 1956 but was the losing pitcher in 1958, entrusted that 5-0 lead to southpaw Mike McCormick in the fourth and the 21-year-old San Francisco fast baller held it until the sixth.

Lopez substituted practically an entirely new team in that inning and it could have been a big one for the American League had it not been for the ever-present Banks.

Harvey Kuenn of the Indians led off with a single but was out trying to stretch it to a double on right fielder Hank Aaron's relay to Banks.

Al Kaline of the Tigers was safe on Mathews' second error of the game—the National League committed four bobbles all told—and after Skowron singled, Elston Howard walked to fill the bases.

Nellie Fox then singled to left for the American League's first run and National League manager Walt Alton promptly brought in Pirate relief ace Elroy Face from the bullpen.

Aparicio Ends Rally
Luis Aparicio of the White Sox, faced with a golden chance to make it a big inning, shot a grounder toward the left of second base. Banks was after it in a flash, gloved it over to second baseman Bill Mazeroski for one out, and Mazeroski relayed it to first for the double play that did the trick.

The American League still was to be heard from, however, scoring two more runs in the eighth off Bob Buhl when Harvey Kuenn was safe on Charley Neal's error.

All-Star Game Play-By-Play

National First

Mays took a ball and then tripled into the right field corner on Monbouquette's second pitch. Skinner singled to center on the first pitch, scoring Mays. Mathews fouled to Skowron. Skinner stole second. Runnels dropping Berra's throw which may have gotten Skinner. Aaron on a 3-2 pitch fled to Mantle. Banks, with a count of two strikes and no balls, hit a home run over the left field wall scoring Skinner ahead of him. Adcock fled to Maris.

Three runs, three hits, no errors, none left.

American First

Minoso fled to Mays in short center field. Malone was safe at first when Mathews let his grounder go by him for an error. Maris struck out on three pitches. Mantle walked. Malone going to second. Skowron struck out.

No runs, no hits, one error, two left.

National Second

Mazeroski fouled to Skowron. Crandall lined. Monbouquette's first pitch over the left field wall for a home run. Friend struck out. Mays singled to left. Skinner struck out.

One run, two hits, no errors, one left.

American Second

Berra fouled to Mathews. Runnels lined to Skinner. Hansen singled to center on a three-two count. Hansen went to second on Friend's balk. Hansen went to third on a wild pitch. Williams batted for Monbouquette and grounded out. Mazeroski to Adcock.

National Third

Chuck Estrada of Baltimore went in to pitch for the American League. Mathews on the first pitch fouled to Berra. Aaron popped to Skowron near the pitcher's mound. Banks doubled off the left field wall. Adcock singled off Malone's glove. Banks going to third. Mazeroski singled to left, the ball just getting by Malone. Banks scored with Adcock stopping at second. Crandall drove a sharp grounder toward third on which Malone made a spectacular stop but his throw to second, trying to force Mazeroski, was wild and hit second base umpire Nestor Chylak, preventing Adcock from scoring. Adcock stopped at third as Crandall was credited with a single filling the bases. Friend struck out.

One run, four hits, no errors, three left.

American Third

Banks threw out Minoso. Malone fled to Mays. Maris grounded out to Adcock unassisted.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

National Fourth

Jim Coates of the Yankees went in to pitch for the American League. Mays doubled to center, the ball just getting past Runnels and then Mays slid into second to beat the relay from Mantle. Skinner grounded out. Coates to Skowron. Mays going to third. Aaron fled to Mantle.

American Fourth

Mike McCormick went in to pitch for the National League. Mantle walked for the second straight time. Skowron struck out for the second straight time. Berra popped a three and two pitch to Mazeroski. Mantle holding first. Runnels walked. Mantle going to second.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

National Fifth

Banks fouled to Berra. Adcock doubled to center. Bill White of the Cardinals went in to run for Adcock. Mazeroski was hit by a pitched ball. Crandall grounded into a double play. Malone picked up his ground ball, stepped on third to force White and then threw to first to retire Crandall.

American Fifth

White went to first base for the National League. Al Smith batted for Coates and fled to Mays. Minoso popped to Banks. Malone went to second. John Price, who relieved Lindner in the fourth, was tagged with the loss. Jim Williams, who replaced Lindner in the fourth, was tagged with the loss. Jim Williams, who replaced Lindner in the fourth, was tagged with the loss.

Monbouquette Is Dejected After Defeat

Bill Had Good Stuff, Couldn't Control It

By DON SWANSON
KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — "Everytime I've got good stuff, I can't get the ball to go where I want it," moaned a dejected Billy Monbouquette after Monday's major league All-Star game.

Monbouquette, 23-year-old Boston Red Sox righthander, was the losing pitcher in the American League's 5-3 loss to the National League.

"I had good stuff, but couldn't control it. My fast ball was hopping but my curve was hanging," he said. "Their leadoff man, (Willie) Mays, hit a bad pitch for a triple in the first inning. It was a high, outside fast ball."

Kids Were Nervous

"Then in the same inning, (Ernie) Banks hit his home run on a fast ball. I guess this was just one of those days," he shrugged. "The kid was a little off Monday," losing manager Al Lopez said in regard to Monbouquette. "He's a good pitcher a much better pitcher than he showed Monday. I'll take any pitcher on this American League All-Star team—and gladly — to play for my club," he laughed.

"I think Monbouquette was a little nervous. I know Chuck Estrada was. But they're both kids," Lopez said.

Asked if he thought he may have made a mistake by using Ted Williams as a pinch-hitter in the second inning, Lopez replied: "No. At the time we were four runs behind and had a man on base. I figured if Ted could hit one out of the park it would put us right back in the game."

Impressed By Mays

Lopez admitted he would have used Williams if he were still available in the eighth inning when the American leaguers loaded the bases with one out and one run in.

Instead, he went along with Luis Aparicio and he hit into a double play to end the rally.

Al Kaline, who hit the American League's only home run, said "the ball came right down the middle. It was a good fast ball."

Kaline's blow came off Bob Buhl of the Milwaukee Braves in the eighth inning with Harvey Kuenn on base.

Asked which National League player impressed him most Kaline and Lopez both agreed on Mays.

"He can hit, he can run, and he can field. He's one helluva ball player," Lopez said.

Joins Broncos

GOLDEN, Colo. (UPI)—Former Notre Dame star Frank Tripucka, joined the Denver Broncos Monday as a 73-man squad worked out in preparation for the first season in American Football League competition.

Tripucka, who weighed in at 205 pounds Sunday, is expected to win the quarterbacking chore for the Broncs this year.

Forty & Eight	0	5

The tie for first place in the Rec High School Baseball League was broken yesterday when Curl's Camera Shop, managed by John Hardinger and Bob Snyder, upset Bernstein's at Taylor Field in a 4-3 contest.

It was the first defeat of the campaign for Bernstein's and cracked the latter's 4-game victory skein.

At Stutcher Field, the V.F.W. captured a 1-0 thriller from the Toy Shop and retained first place by chalking up their fifth consecutive triumph.

Gurley's went into a tie with Curl's and the Toy Shop for third place by beating the Forty & Eight Club at Fort Hill Field to the tune of 5-3 in a game limited to six innings by rain.

The loss was the fifth for the winless Forty & Eight nine.

A fielder's choice by Mike Williams with the bases loaded in the last of the 7th and one out enabled Harold Hardinger to beat the throw to the plate with the run that gave Curl's the decision over Bernstein's.

Seeders Beats Price

Jimmy Seeders went the route for Curl's, yielded eight hits, fanned four and notched his first win of the season. John Price, who relieved Lindner in the fourth, was tagged with the loss. Seeders, Williams and Hardinger shared six of Curl's eight hits while Mickey Robinson excelled in left field with several nice catches.

The only run scored in the V.F.W.-Toy Shop contest came in the first inning and was the result of a wild throw by the catcher on a double play ball.

Keech's Drug Stores, occupant of last place in the National Division of the Rec Softball League, upset the front-running Redmen yesterday as Bob Chaney outduelled Ellis "Turtle" Slonaker to gain a 2-1 decision at Post Field.

It was the first win of the season in nine outings for Keech's and the first loss of the campaign for the Redmen who had bagged six in a row.

Chaney yielded only two hits—singles by D. Sites and Miller in the fourth and seventh innings—issued two walks and struck out nine batsmen. Slonaker gave up five hits, two of which were credited to Art Lechlitter, and fanned eight.

What proved to be the deciding run was scored in the 6th inning when Frank Nethken walked and scored on Reggie Meade's single. Chaney pitched shutout ball until the final frame.

Improvements Advancing At St. Peter's Church

WESTERNPORT — Extensive improvements and renovations at St. Peter's Catholic Church have begun, according to the Rev. Linus E. Robinson, pastor. The program of work is expected to continue until mid-November.

A group of electricians are re-wiring all at the same time, the main altar and the two side altars are being dismantled and rebuilt.

Several tiers on the main altar will be discarded, leaving a true liturgical altar with only one tier above the altar top. Additional Italian marble will be utilized in rebuilding the altars. A new tabernacle will be placed on the main altar using the interior of the old safe-type tabernacle.

The work of tearing down the old pipe organ was completed Wednesday afternoon. It will be replaced by a large Wurlitzer reed console organ.

New confessionals are almost completed in the rear of the church. They are soundproof and are equipped with a lighting system indicating whether or not the confessionals are occupied.

Already completed are canopy-type coverings for the two side entrances to the church. A Hi-Fi

4-H'ers Plant New Highway Signs

Debby Durst, Nancy Hershberger of Ant Hill 4-H Club and Donald Stanton and William Buckel of Grantsville Boys' Club, are shown placing a Garrett County 4-H road sign on US Route 40 at the county line near Frostburg. The clubs have placed signs at other points in the area including Route 40 west by the Grantsville Club; Route 50 west by Co-Oriole Clubs; and Route 135 Bloomington by Chicasaw Club. This is a project of the Garrett County 4-H Council. The signs serve to welcome and urge all drivers to operate their vehicles safely and carefully within the county. The signs were dedicated at a ceremony preceding the Garrett County 4-H Campfire at the Western Maryland 4-H Center, Bittinger.

Blood Donors Needed Today At Frostburg

Mobile Unit Quota 120 Pints

FROSTBURG — The Johnstown Bloodmobile will be in Frostburg today at the American Legion home from noon until 6 p.m. according to Mrs. G. Franklin Martens, chairman.

Mrs. Martens has pointed out that many of the local donors have been employees of the various industrial plants where the blood bank now pays periodic visits and have been donating blood there. "This makes it hard for us to reach our quota upon the regular visit," she said.

The local quota is 120 pints and it will be necessary to have new donors if Frostburg is to meet its quota, she pointed out.

Mrs. Martens urges all local citizens to ask themselves these questions, "What would I do if a member of my family needed blood? Have I or some other member made a visit to the blood bank to make a deposit against that day?"

If all people were honest with themselves, Mrs. Martens said, this project would not have to beg each three months for donors.

Tri-Towns Launch Plan For Area Beautification

PIEDMONT — "Clean-up and Paint-up Week" in the Tri-Towns will begin September 11.

The date was selected at the monthly meeting of the Tri-Towns Community Council in the Presbyterian Church.

"Health Day" will be observed September 13 when the Johnstown Red Cross bloodmobile unit pays its quarterly visit to the Tri-Towns. A "Fire Prevention Day" and parades will be held.

Mrs. Arthur Hartman, chairman, was authorized to take advantage of help offered by the West Virginia University, the Potomac Edison Company and other agencies engaged in community betterment programs.

Mrs. Hartman was requested to write a letter to the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, protesting the proposed moving of the company's business office to Keyser.

Officials Cooperate

Raymond C. Hudson reported that the Mayors and Councils of Westernport and Piedmont in recent meetings with the executive board expressed sympathy with the objectives of the Community Council to develop more civic pride and to improve the appearance of the towns. They will cooperate as far as finances permit.

Mayor Rodney Baker told the executive board the town plans improvements to a number of streets, and that the State Roads Commission will surface West Fairview Street. The board suggested that the town review its building codes with a view of removing fire hazards and unsightly conditions.

The Town of Westernport is revising ordinances and having them printed in convenient form. Piedmont also plans to review its ordinances and bring them up to date. Councilman James Bissett, reported.

To Replace Signs

Luke, Westernport and Piedmont plan to repair or replace needed street signs. Ormal Hoover, acting as a committee for CC, recently made a survey of the signs in the three towns.

Westernport was commended for improving roads in the Oak View section. Dr. Raymond W. Reeves was also praised for tearing down an old residence on Main Street. A number of property owners have improved the appearance of their residences.

Kenneth Sheetz, vice president, was authorized to study the possibilities of placing signs near the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad station and at the entrance to the Tri-Towns, emphasizing favorable points of the community.

Mayor Edward Duckworth of Luke reported that the town is employing eight youths under 18 years of age for odd jobs. The suggestion was made that, possibly a pool of youths who want to work could be formed, and a system worked out whereby they could be put in touch with people who have jobs like mowing lawns, cutting weeds, etc.

Action was deferred pending the finding of some person who would be willing to serve as a clearing agent for persons wanting that type of work.

Cite Railroad Property

Members voted to send a letter to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, calling attention to the condition of the station here and requesting that the company repair the building or tear it down and put up a smaller building in keeping with the needs of traffic and freight business. The unsightly condition of the hillside along the tracks below West Fairview Street was noted. Weeds should be cut and the dumping of garbage prohibited.

Councilman James Bissett stated the B&O plans to repair the Child's Avenue crossing in the near future.

Raymond C. Hudson, was appointed to inquire about the ownership of ground on the dike along the riverbank near Piedmont School Grounds. A suggestion was made that the strip of land be used for a picnic site, if available. The desirability of having a larger picnic and recreation site within a short distance of the community would be available for group and family picnics, day camps, Scout camporees and other outdoor activities.

A survey of various playgrounds and the promotion of a recreation program was suggested as a project for next year.

The next meeting will be held Monday, August 1, at 8 p.m. at the Presbyterian Church.

A native of here, he was born on April 4, 1938, and was a son of Mrs. Lizzie (Runions) Sherman, of here and the late Maurice Sherman. He is survived by his mother.

A funeral service will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the Thrush Funeral Home with Rev. R. B. Woodworth, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, and Rev. Charles Roth, Methodist minister, in charge.

Interment will be in the Oliver Cemetery here. The body is at the funeral home.

MRS. ELIZABETH ORRIS

FROSTBURG — Mrs. Elizabeth Orris, 80, of Des Moines, Iowa, a native of Frostburg, died there July 8.

She was the daughter of the late John and Catherine (Ryan) Sullivan, and prior to moving to Iowa was employed as a trained nurse in the old Western Maryland Hospital, Cumberland.

Surviving are two daughters, a son and a sister. A number of nieces and nephews also survive here.

CHARLES C. WOLFORD

ROMNEY, W. Va. — Charles Camden Wolford, 87, of here, died yesterday in Hampshire Memorial Hospital after an illness of five months.

Born near Augusta, W. Va., he was a son of the late David and Annie (Martin) Wolford. His wife, Anna (Martin) Wolford, preceded him in death.

Mr. Wolford was a member of Romney Christian Church and is survived by a number of nieces and nephews.

The body is at the Shaffer Funeral Home, where services will be conducted tomorrow at 11 a. m. (EST) by Rev. Raymond Martin, pastor of Romney Christian Church. Burial will be in Mt. Zion Cemetery.

MRS. ALKIRE FUNERAL

PETERSBURG, W. Va. — Services for Mrs. Erma C. Alkire, 42, who died Saturday at her home in Baltimore, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Brick Church of the Brethren at Maysville, Rev. Owen Horton will officiate and burial will be in Maysville Cemetery.

The body will be at the Schaeffer Funeral Home here after 10 a. m. today and will be taken to the church at 1 p. m. tomorrow.

Sunshine Girls Arrange Picnic

LONACONING — Victory Council No. 1, Pythian Sunshine Girls, will hold their picnic Wednesday, July 20, at the Celanese swimming pool.

A bus will leave from the Pythian building, Union Street, at 10 a. m. Members planning to go on the outing are asked to notify Mary Lynn McCormick and Caroline Hadley.

Initiation will be held Thursday, July 21 at the Pythian hall.

Annual Social Set

FROSTBURG — Emmanuel Methodist Church on Route 40, west of Frostburg, will hold its annual social Saturday at 5 p. m. at the church. A special plate lunch will be served. Hot sandwiches, cake, pie, ice cream and baked goods will be available. The WSCS of the church is sponsoring the social.

Visiting Parents

FROSTBURG — Captain and Mrs. Norman Clark and children, Douglas and Debra, of Omaha, Neb., are visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James K. Clark, Grahamtown. Captain Clark is attached to the Offutt Air Force Base in Omaha.

Blood Donors Needed Today At Frostburg

Mobile Unit Quota 120 Pints

FROSTBURG — The Johnstown Bloodmobile will be in Frostburg today at the American Legion home from noon until 6 p. m. according to Mrs. G. Franklin Martens, chairman.

Mrs. Martens has pointed out that many of the local donors have been employees of the various industrial plants where the blood bank now pays periodic visits and have been donating blood there. "This makes it hard for us to reach our quota upon the regular visit," she said.

The local quota is 120 pints and it will be necessary to have new donors if Frostburg is to meet its quota, she pointed out.

Mrs. Martens urges all local citizens to ask themselves these questions, "What would I do if a member of my family needed blood? Have I or some other member made a visit to the blood bank to make a deposit against that day?"

If all people were honest with themselves, Mrs. Martens said, this project would not have to beg each three months for donors.

Winebrenner Heads East End Teen Age Club

FROSTBURG — John Winebrenner was elected president of the East End Playground Teen Age Club at a recent meeting and will preside at his first meeting today at 7:30 p. m. at the playground.

Other officers elected to serve with Winebrenner are Eileen Beal, vice president; Norma Britcher, secretary, and Mary Kopper, treasurer.

Other members of the newly organized group are Gloria Craze, Cynthia Rendar, Sharon McClintock, Ann M. Wilhelm, Polla Drummond, Carol Lewis, Donald Montana, Kathy Kenny, Judy Sullivan, Linda Gracie, Susan Kneriem, Michael Delaney, Michael Kenney, James Lynn, Richard Delaney and Eugene Klosterman.

WSCS Will Aid Foreign Missions

ELLERSLIE — Women's Society of Christian Service met Thursday evening in the Methodist Church hall with Mrs. Erma Burkett presiding. Mrs. Hazel Griffey was in charge of devotions. Mrs. Alma Connor gave a monologue of a missionary diary. Mrs. Erma Burkett gave a reading "Woman in Harbor."

Forty nine sick calls were reported and Circle No. 1 turned in $47.00. Motion was made to pledge the same amount as last year on the Missionary pledge and $10 was donated to Joan Hughes, foreign missionary.

Circle No. 2 announced they will make ice cream at the church hall, July 14. Sixteen members were present.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Burkett.

Area Grangers Tour Washington

ELLERSLIE — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wisler Sr. accompanied a party of Grangers, sponsored by Grange No. 1954 who went on a tour of Washington, D. C. They attended dedication ceremonies of the new National Grange building.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower delivered the dedication address. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, gave the invocation.

Deacons Plan Outing

PIEDMONT — Members of the Board of Deacons and their families will hold a ham and covered dish supper at McIntyre Cottage, Green Glades, Deep Creek Lake, July 13.

Communion Service Set

BARTON — The First Methodist Church will have communion service next Sunday morning, July 17, with Rev. Byron Keesecker, officiating.

Tri-Towns Launch Plan For Area Beautification

PIEDMONT — "Clean-up and Paint-up Week" in the Tri-Towns will begin September 11.

The date was selected at the monthly meeting of the Tri-Towns Community Council in the Presbyterian Church.

"Health Day" will be observed September 13 when the Johnstown Red Cross bloodmobile unit pays its quarterly visit to the Tri-Towns. A "Fire Prevention Day" and parades will be held.

Mrs. Arthur Hartman, chairman, was authorized to take advantage of help offered by the West Virginia University, the Potomac Edison Company and other agencies engaged in community betterment programs.

Mrs. Hartman was requested to write a letter to the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, protesting the proposed moving of the company's business office to Keyser.

Officials Cooperate

Raymond C. Hudson reported that the Mayors and Councils of Westernport and Piedmont in recent meetings with the executive board expressed sympathy with the objectives of the Community Council to develop more civic pride and to improve the appearance of the towns. They will cooperate as far as finances permit.

Mayor Rodney Baker told the executive board the town plans improvements to a number of streets, and that the State Roads Commission will surface West Fairview Street. The board suggested that the town review its building codes with a view of removing fire hazards and unsightly conditions.

The Town of Westernport is revising ordinances and having them printed in convenient form. Piedmont also plans to review its ordinances and bring them up to date. Councilman James Bissett, reported.

To Replace Signs

Luke, Westernport and Piedmont plan to repair or replace needed street signs. Ormal Hoover, acting as a committee for CC, recently made a survey of the signs in the three towns.

Westernport was commended for improving roads in the Oak View section. Dr. Raymond W. Reeves was also praised for tearing down an old residence on Main Street. A number of property owners have improved the appearance of their residences.

Kenneth Sheetz, vice president, was authorized to study the possibilities of placing signs near the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad station and at the entrance to the Tri-Towns, emphasizing favorable points of the communities.

Mayor Edward Duckworth of Luke reported that the town is employing eight youths under 18 years of age for odd jobs. The suggestion was made that possibly a pool of youths who want to work could be formed, and a system worked out whereby they could be put in touch with people who have jobs like mowing lawns, cutting weeds, etc.

Action was deferred pending the finding of some person who would be willing to serve as a clearing agent for persons wanting that type of work.

Cite Railroad Property

Members voted to send a letter to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, calling attention to the condition of the station here and requesting that the company repair the building or tear it down and put up a smaller building in keeping with the needs of traffic and freight business. The unsightly condition of the hillside along the tracks below West Fairview Street was noted. Weeds should be cut and the dumping of garbage prohibited.

Councilman James Bissett stated the B&O plans to repair the Child's Avenue crossing in the near future.

Raymond C. Hudson, was appointed to inquire about the ownership of ground on the dike along the riverbank near Piedmont School Grounds. A suggestion was made that the strip of land be used for a picnic site, if available. The desirability of having a larger picnic and recreation site within a short distance of the community would be available for group and family picnics, day camps, Scout camporees and other outdoor activities.

A survey of various playgrounds and the promotion of a recreation program was suggested as a project for next year.

The next meeting will be held Monday, August 1, at 8 p. m. at the Presbyterian Church.

VFW Auxiliary Receives Two State Citations

Lonaconing Unit Gets Cash Award

LONACONING — Two awards were presented to members of Alvin C. Neat Auxiliary at the July meeting held at Post No. 5280, VFW home. The honors were awarded to Lonaconing at the 1960 convention. Mrs. Isabel Foote, president, accepted the awards on behalf of the Auxiliary, from delegates who attended the Department convention in Baltimore last month.

In membership, the Auxiliary placed first in division 4 and won a cash award. For rehabilitation work done during the past year the unit was presented a citation.

The Auxiliary will hold their next meeting at Dans Mountain Recreation Area on Wednesday, August 3, at 6:30 p. m. A covered dish supper will precede the meeting.

Each member is asked to bring a covered dish and place setting for the outing at the Lonaconing recreation pavilion. Any member desiring transportation should call the post home.

Mrs. Mary Margaret Gowans and Mrs. Margaret Arnold were hostesses for the meeting. Prize of the evening, donated by Mrs. Helena Nolan, was won by Mrs. Evelyn Bradburn.

Frostburg Briefs

Star of Frostburg Council 96, Daughters of America, will meet today at 8 p. m. in the Junior Hall, Broadway, with Mrs. Genevieve Broadwater presiding.

Members of cub pack 46, sponsored by Zion United Church of Christ, who plan on making the trip to the potato chip factory in Berlin, Pa., have been asked to meet at noon at the church according to Charles Richardson, cubmaster. The group will make the trip by chartered bus.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kneriem, and daughter, of Akron, returned home after visiting his mother Mrs. Myrtle Kneriem, 156 West Main Street.

Golfers Plan Outing

PIEDMONT — The Men's Golf Association of the new Mill Creek Country Club will hold a golf outing, Wednesday at the club.

Tea-off time will be 5:30 p. m. A buffet lunch will be served at the conclusion of the matches and all members are asked to participate.

Four Injured In Auto Crash On Route 36

Car Plunges Down Embankment

Four young men were injured, three being hospitalized yesterday afternoon in a spectacular auto accident along State Route 36 at Nikep.

Admitted to Miners Hospital in Frostburg was John Marvin Fisher, 26, Box 106, Westernport, the most seriously injured, who sustained head injuries and an injury to his left ear.

Also hospitalized at Frostburg were Charles Leroy Barnard, 23, of RD 1, Box 17, Westernport, driver of the sedan, who suffered brush burns about his body, and Russell Eldred Raines, 17, of RD 1, Westernport, who also sustained lacerations about his face and body.

William Cuthbertson, 19, of Gilmore, a fourth passenger in the car, was examined at the hospital and released. The three hospitalized men are reported in "fair" condition.

State Trooper Kenneth W. Messmer indicated the driver of the car will be charged with excessive speed.

The trooper said Barnard was traveling south on the highway and attempted to negotiate a right curve and ran off the left of the highway.

After he lost control of the sedan, it skidded across the road and rammed through metal guard rails and rolled down over an embankment coming to a rest on its wheels on the old C&P Railroad tracks below.

The men were taken to the hospital in Eichhorn's ambulances from Lonaconing. Nikep is located between Lonaconing and Barton on Route 36. The accident occurred about 4:20 p. m.

"Bus Stop" Tryouts Planned This Week

Tryouts for the next production of the Algonquin Players will be conducted Wednesday and Thursday at 8 p. m. in the City Hall auditorium, according to Chad Riley, who will direct the play.

This next scheduled play to be presented in mid-September, is William Inge's "Bus Stop." The play has eight roles, five male and three female. All copies of the script, which have been distributed to those interested in participating, must be brought to the Wednesday night tryouts.

Club To Meet

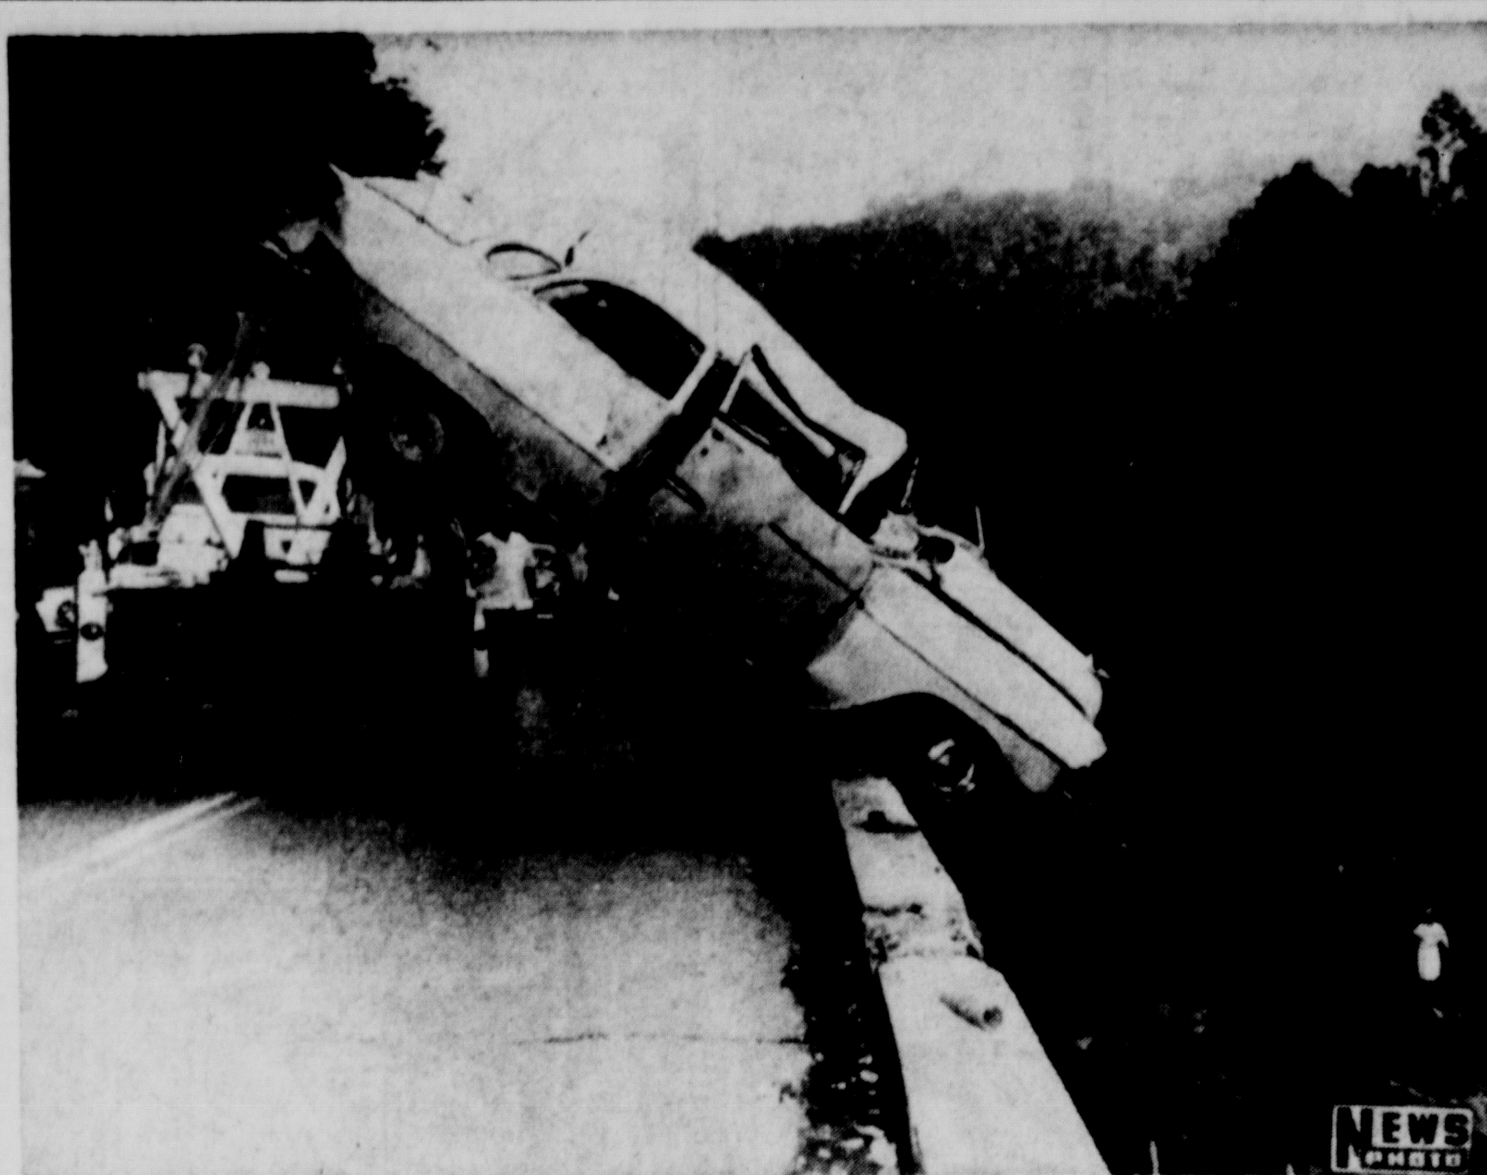

The Cumberland Optimist Club will hold its regular weekly meeting tomorrow at 6:15 p. m. at Central YMCA.

Auto Wreck Scene At Nikep

Four young men were injured yesterday afternoon at Nikep in a spectacular auto accident which was blamed on excessive speed while they were traveling along State Route 36 in that small Georges Creek community. Three of the men were admitted to Miners Hospital in Frostburg. The car ran off the

Rec Department Will Sponsor Teen-Age Dance

A teen-age dance will be held tonight at Centre Street Playground under the supervision of the City Recreation Department.

Dancing will be from 7:30 to 10:30 p. m. to the music of The Statesmen, a four-piece band formed by students from Frostburg State Teachers College.

The event, open to all teenagers of the city, will be supervised by Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant recreation director, assisted by Mrs. Marian Wilson, Mrs. Margaret Buzzard, Gary Shook and Denny Knippenberg.

They will be assisted by members of the Cumberland Auxiliary Police, who will supervise the grounds.

Mrs. Hogan said nobody can come in jeans or shorts and that all dancers must be dressed in street clothes.

The event, she said, is a dance and not a regular Centre Street Playground activity. The grounds will close at 5 p. m. for playground activities.

Mrs. Hogan said another similar dance will be held in about two weeks if tonight's event is successful.

Veterans To Meet

Barracks 1125, Veterans of World War I, will meet tomorrow at 8 p. m. at Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"The Gazebo" Opens For Week In Garrett Co.

"The Gazebo," the comedy about a do-it-yourself murder, will be the next attraction at the Garrett County Playhouse, where it opens tonight for the first of five performances.

This whimsical thriller centers around a writer of television who-dunits, who is as winning and lovable a felon as the sea-going bigamist of the film "The Captain's Paradise," which also was written by Alec Coppel. This play ran for over 200 performances in New York during the 1958-59 season.

This story concerns the writer's attempted murder of a would-be blackmailer of his wife. Since he is such a dramaturgical expert on crime, the writer is certain he can carry off a perfect murder and thereby save his wife's name.

Polio Clinic Set Here Tomorrow

The Allegany County Health Department will hold a polio immunization clinic tomorrow from 1 to 4 p. m. in the Union Street County Building here.

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, said second, third and fourth shots will be given at the clinic.

City-Wide Pet Show Planned Tomorrow Night

Event Will Be Held In Constitution Park

The second annual Intra-City Pet Show will be held Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. on the Little League ball field at Constitution Park.

Co-sponsors of the event will be the Cumberland Recreation Department and the Allegany County Animal Welfare Association.

Winners from pet shows held on the city's 14 playgrounds last week are scheduled to compete, according to Mrs. Eva Hogan, chairman.

The pets will be judged in five classifications, best groomed, largest, smallest, most unusual and best costumed animal.

Playground leaders are anticipating spirited contests. They recalled that the winner in the best dressed animal class last year was a cat, dressed as a lady down to earrings, dress and hat, and that the pet kept the clothes on during the entire show.

Rules set up for the show call for all animals to be properly handled, with dogs and goats on leashes and others humanely caged or boxed.

Judges, members of the Animal Welfare Society, will be Mrs. George McA. Young, Mrs. James Taylor and Mrs. Edgar McManis.

Mrs. Edward D. Finan will be in charge of awards which will consist of blue ribbons, certificates and prizes for first place winners, and certificates and prizes for second and third place contestants.

Mrs. Hogan, assistant playground director, will be general chairman for the pet show and C. Eugene Mason, city recreation director, will be master of ceremonies.

The pet show was one of the popular city-wide playground events last year, drawing several hundred spectators.

Collector Gets $3,500 In Taxes

The receipt of $3,500 in county and state taxes, including $500 collected in Barton and Midland, yesterday was reported by William B. Orndorff, Allegany County tax collector.

Today one of his assistants will visit Frostburg, where taxes will be collected on the first floor of the fire hall between 9:30 a. m. and 3:30 p. m.

Tomorrow taxes will be collected at the VFW Home in Mt. Savage from 9:30 a. m. until noon and at the fire hall in Flintstone from 1:30 p. m. until 3:30 p. m.

Parents Will Pay For Broken Windows

The Cumberland Police Department yesterday marked closed an investigation of the breaking of 32 windows at Mt. Royal School in recent weeks.

Acting Capt. James E. Van said the parents of the two youths involved agreed to pay for the damages.

Man Given 60 Days In Assault Case

Russell F. Slider, 41, city, was sentenced to 60 days in the County Jail yesterday after being found guilty of assault.

Magistrate Paul W. Barnett of Trial Magistrate Court sentenced Slider after finding him guilty of assaulting his wife, Mrs. Mary Slider.

PTA Programs Get Emphasis At Congress

300 Attending Frostburg Sessions

Methods and procedures for conducting successful parent-teachers programs were discussed at length yesterday during the summer conference of the Maryland Congress of Parent and Teachers at Frostburg State Teachers College.

The two-day conference, being attended by some 300 representatives from throughout the state, will close this afternoon with a general discussion meeting presided over by Mrs. Cecil E. Ewing, of Elkton, president.

This morning there will be a continuation of six workshops including audio-visual, councils, legislation, policies and procedures, programming and public relations, which opened yesterday afternoon.

This afternoon a new play presentation will be given by the University of Maryland Drama Wing and the play will be announced at that time.

Last night an impromptu entertainment program was presented at the college by Allegany County, the host county.

School superintendents from three counties yesterday addressed the opening session of the two-day meeting.

The speakers were Dr. William Brish, superintendent of schools in Washington County; Ralph R. Webster, Allegany County superintendent, and Wilford Hawkins, Garrett County superintendent. Their theme was "PTA and Education in the Next Decade."

Dr. Brish pointed out the many responsibilities that are laid upon schools that could be taken care of in the home or other organizations. In illustrating his point, Dr. Brish used as an example an auto accident involving a teenage driver. He said the public right away puts undue responsibility on the school, saying it should teach students better driving.

Firemen said the grease ignited when Mrs. Cessna was in the process of making french fried potatoes. After the grease caught fire the woman grabbed the pan and went to throw the flaming grease in the back yard.

In doing so, some of the hot liquid splashed over her hand and arm. A built-in cabinet above the stove was damaged by the fire which occurred about 5:25 p. m.

The house was smoke damaged because of the blaze which was extinguished by the firemen.

The department, he said, knows that the stop sign is not the answer but is "trying to save someone's life" until a light can be installed.

The commissioner said he believes traffic will be able to move normally at the intersection when it is directed by an officer.

Officers Assigned To Intersection

Traffic officers will be assigned to the Virginia and Laing Avenue intersection beginning this morning, according to Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming.

He said officers will be detailed for full-time duty during two shifts and at peak traffic time during the 1 to 9 a. m. trick.

Mr. Fleming said heavy trucks are having difficulties at the crossing.

The department, he said, knows that the stop sign is not the answer but is "trying to save someone's life" until a light can be installed.

The commissioner said he believes traffic will be able to move normally at the intersection when it is directed by an officer.

Local Man Jailed In Default Of Fine

Forest V. Page Jr., 26, of 112 South Spruce Street, yesterday was committed to the County Jail for 15 days in default of a $50 fine imposed at a hearing in Juvenile Court.

Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin found Page guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old local boy.

City Police arrested Page Sunday for buying wine for the local youth. Magistrate Fatkin also found the youth guilty of being a delinquent minor and gave him a warning.

AFL-CIO Council To Meet Tonight

The Western Maryland Central Labor Council, AFL-CIO, will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple.

Plans for the proposed Labor Day picnic will be discussed.

Health Board Backs Code On Housing

Revises Ordinances Dating Back To 1926

A model ordinance on the Hygiene of Housing was recommended to the Mayor and Council yesterday by the City Health Board.

The ordinance was prepared by Olonzo P. Fike, a member of the staff of the State Health Department, who predicted the ordinance, if adopted, will serve as a model for the rest of the state.

The comprehensive set of rules on housing hygiene was prepared by Mr. Fike, housing training consultant for the state unit, to represent the best current thinking on the subject.

Mr. Fike said he used the American Public Health Association's suggested housing code as the background for the ordinance.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech, who presided at the health board meeting, told members the proposed ordinance was highly recommended last week by R. L. Lundberg, an official of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, who came here to help city officials institute a workable housing improvement program.

The city's housing hygiene regulations were adopted in 1926 and last revised in 1949, and need revision, Mr. Fike said.

Officials said the proposed ordinance will keep the good parts of the ordinance and revise other provisions to bring the code up to date.

Officials said the ordinance spells out details so clearly there can be no question in the mind of those who will use it.

The proposal, Mr. Fike said, is designed to protect not only property owners and tenants but the whole community.

James W. Beacham, local realtor, endorsed the proposal.

Following the Health Board meeting, members met with City Attorney William R. Carscaden to review the city's housing ordinances, so obsolete provisions in the present charter may be deleted.

Police Seminar Planned Today

Some 40 law enforcement officers of Allegany County are expected to attend a seminar being held here today under the sponsorship of the State Police and the Cumberland Police Department.

The one-day meeting will begin at 9 a. m. in the Court Room of the Public Safety Building. Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming will give the address of welcome and introduce speakers and guests.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris will be the principal speaker, briefing the officers on court room procedure.

Instructors, headed by Major M. M. Puncke, of the State Police, will lead courses on local police problems, chemical tests for drunkenness and law enforcement and procedure. Police Chief B. F. Gaffney will be host.

Md. Delegates Get Assurance From Kennedy

Winning Side Decision Seen

By LOUIS G. PANOS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy personally assured Maryland delegates Monday that, by sticking with him, they'll be on the winning side at the Democratic National Convention.

The leading candidate for the party's presidential nomination made a dramatic appearance at the delegation's first caucus since its arrival for the convention opening Monday afternoon.

The gathering had actually begun to break up with the distribution of credentials to the delegates when Kennedy strode into the caucus room at the Biltmore Hotel, convention headquarters.

A wide smile creasing his tanned face, the Massachusetts senator shook hands all around and made a brief speech.

"Over The Top" "I do hope," he said, "that with your support we'll go over the top on Wednesday."

Earlier the delegation had heard Kennedy backers warn that it would be making a big mistake if it toyed with the idea of switching to some other candidate.

Former Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore, a leading supporter of Kennedy, made the point.

It would be regrettable if Maryland made a move too soon in the wrong direction and we missed the caboose," said D'Alesandro.

D'Alesandro's statement was the wind-up of a discussion which came after the only immediate real business of the caucus—the re-election of National Committee member Michael J. Birmingham and National Committeewoman Mildred Otenssek.

The former Baltimore mayor had been maneuvering to unseat both, but a party harmony call from State Chairman Thomas B. Finan staved off an open fight.

There was no need for the 71-member delegation to decide at this caucus how it will cast its 24 votes on the first convention ballot for the presidential nomination.

City Council President Philip H. Goodman of Baltimore reminded the group that Kennedy's victory in the Maryland primary gave him legal claim to the Maryland votes so long as his nomination is possible.

"Anything Can Happen" But Albert L. Sklar, member of the Public Service Commission, also reminded his fellow delegates that "anything can happen in a convention."

His message was clear: "Don't overlook the possibility some other candidate might overhaul Kennedy once the balloting begins Wednesday."

"I know we can look to Gov. Tawes for leadership and will follow him in any direction he chooses to take," said Sklar.

Until recent strong indications of an early Kennedy victory, the governor had given the impression that he might choose to take the delegation to Sens. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas or Stuart Symington of Missouri at the earliest possible moment.

Sklar's little speech prompted D'Alesandro to make his stick-with-Kennedy pitch.

The caucus marked the 66-year-old governor's first public appearance before a Maryland group since his June 9 operation for removal of an intestinal growth.

Relaxed and smiling, he assured the delegates, "I'm here, I'm still breathing, and I feel fine."

In the sparring match to oust Birmingham and Mrs. Otenssek, with whom he had been at odds in recent campaigns, D'Alesandro had suggested the governor himself for the national committee-man's post.

But Finan's nomination of Birmingham for re-election made clear that Tawes would tolerate delegate; Kathleen L. Robie, Washington, high school service chairman; Mrs. Richard Carter, Cresaptown and Robert Herboldsheimer, Cumberland; Mrs. Nash, Mrs. Ewing, Reuben H. Sanders, past president of Montgomery County Council and member of panel, and Mrs. Lester B. Reed, Mt. Savage, chairman of publications.

Maryland PTA Congress Meets

The Cumberland Optimist Club will hold its regular weekly meeting tomorrow at 6:15 p. m. at Central YMCA.

Births

Memorial Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald K. Williams, 529 Pine Avenue, a daughter last night.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Corwell, RFD 1, Ridgeley, a son yesterday.

Auto Wreck Scene At Nikep

Four young men were injured yesterday afternoon at Nikep in a spectacular auto accident which was blamed on excessive speed while they were traveling along State Route 36 in that small Georges Creek community. Three of the men were admitted to Miners Hospital in Frostburg. The car ran off the left of the road and after going out of control skidded across the road through metal guard rails and rolled down over an embankment, coming to a rest on its wheels on the old C&P Railroad tracks which are at the right of the picture. Trooper Kenneth W. Messmer investigated.

Rec Department Will Sponsor Teen-Age Dance

A teen-age dance will be held tonight at Centre Street Playground under the supervision of the City Recreation Department.

Dancing will be from 7:30 to 10:30 p. m. to the music of The Statesmen, a four-piece band formed by students from Frostburg State Teachers College.

The event, open to all teenagers of the city, will be supervised by Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant recreation director, assisted by Mrs. Marian Wilson, Mrs. Margaret Buzzard, Gary Shook and Denny Knippenberg.

They will be assisted by members of the Cumberland Auxiliary Police, who will supervise the grounds.

Mrs. Hogan said nobody can come in jeans or shorts and that all dancers must be dressed in street clothes.

The event, she said, is a dance and not a regular Centre Street Playground activity. The grounds will close at 5 p. m. for playground activities.

Mrs. Hogan said another similar dance will be held in about two weeks if tonight's event is successful.

Veterans To Meet

Barracks 1125, Veterans of World War I, will meet tomorrow at 8 p. m. at Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars

"The Gazebo" Opens For Week In Garrett Co.

"The Gazebo," the comedy about a do-it-yourself murder, will be the next attraction at the Garrett County Playhouse, where it opens tonight for the first of five performances.

This whimsical thriller centers around a writer of television who-dunits, who is as winning and lovable a felon as the sea-going bigamist of the film "The Captain's Paradise," which also was written by Alec Coppel. This play ran for over 200 performances in New York during the 1958-59 season.

This story concerns the writer's attempted murder of a would-be blackmailer of his wife. Since he is such a dramaturgical expert on crime, the writer is certain he can carry off a perfect murder and thereby save his wife's name.

Polio Clinic Set Here Tomorrow

The Allegany County Health Department will hold a polio immunization clinic tomorrow from 1 to 4 p. m. in the Union Street County Building here.

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, said second, third and fourth shots will be given at the clinic.

City-Wide Pet Show Planned Tomorrow Night

Event Will Be Held In Constitution Park

The second annual Intra-City Pet Show will be held Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. on the Little League ball field at Constitution Park.

Co-sponsors of the event will be the Cumberland Recreation Department and the Allegany County Animal Welfare Association.

Winners from pet shows held on the city's 14 playgrounds last week are scheduled to compete, according to Mrs. Eva Hogan, chairman.

The pets will be judged in five classifications, best groomed, largest, smallest, most unusual and best costumed animal.

Playground leaders are anticipating spirited contests. They recalled that the winner in the best dressed animal class last year was a cat, dressed as a lady down to earrings, dress and hat, and that the pet kept the clothes on during the entire show.

Rules set up for the show call for all animals to be properly handled, with dogs and goats on leashes and others humanely caged or boxed.

Judges, members of the Animal Welfare Society, will be Mrs. George McA. Young, Mrs. James Taylor and Mrs. Edgar McMannis.

Mrs. Edward D. Finan will be in charge of awards which will consist of blue ribbons, certificates and prizes for first place winners, and certificates and prizes for second and third place contestants.

Mrs. Hogan, assistant playground director, will be general chairman for the pet show and C. Eugene Mason, city recreation director, will be master of ceremonies.

The pet show was one of the popular city-wide playground events last year, drawing several hundred spectators.

Collector Gets $3,500 In Taxes

The receipt of $3,500 in county and state taxes, including $500 collected in Barton and Midland, yesterday was reported by William B. Orndorff, Allegany County tax collector.

Today one of his assistants will visit Frostburg, where taxes will be collected on the first floor of the fire hall between 9:30 a. m. and 3:30 p. m.

Tomorrow taxes will be collected at the VFW Home in Mt. Savage from 9:30 a. m. until noon and at the fire hall in Flintstone from 1:30 p. m. until 3:30 p. m.

Parents Will Pay For Broken Windows

The Cumberland Police Department yesterday marked closed an investigation of the breaking of 32 windows at Mt. Royal School in recent weeks.

Acting Capt. James E. Van said the parents of the two youths involved agreed to pay for the damages.

Man Given 60 Days In Assault Case

Russell F. Slider, RFD 4, city, was sentenced to 60 days in the County Jail yesterday after being found guilty of assault.

Magistrate Paul W. Barnett of Trial Magistrate Court sentenced Slider after finding him guilty of assaulting his wife, Mrs. Mary Slider.

PTA Programs Get Emphasis At Congress

300 Attending Frostburg Sessions

Methods and procedures for conducting successful parent-teachers programs were discussed at length yesterday during the summer conference of the Maryland Congress of Parent and Teachers at Frostburg State Teachers College.

The two-day conference, being attended by some 300 representatives from throughout the state, will close this afternoon with a general discussion meeting presided over by Mrs. Cecil E. Ewing, of Elkton, president.

This morning there will be a continuation of six workshops including audio-visual, councils, legislation, policies and procedures, programming and public relations, which opened yesterday afternoon.

This afternoon a new play presentation will be given by the University of Maryland Drama Wing and the play will be announced at that time.

Last night an impromptu entertainment program was presented at the college by Allegany County, the host county.

School superintendents from three counties yesterday addressed the opening session of the two-day meeting.

The speakers were Dr. William Brish, superintendent of schools in Washington County; Ralph R. Webster, Allegany County superintendent, and Willard Hawkins, Garrett County superintendent. Their theme was "PTA and Education in the Next Decade."

Dr. Brish pointed out the many responsibilities that are laid upon schools that could be taken care of in the home or other organizations.

In illustrating his point, Dr. Brish used as an example an auto accident involving a teenage driver. He said the public right away puts undue responsibility on the school, saying it should teach students better driving.

Officers Assigned To Intersection

Traffic officers will be assigned to the Virginia and Laing Avenue intersection beginning this morning, according to Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming.

He said officers will be detailed for full-time duty during two shifts and at peak traffic time during the 1 to 9 a. m. shift. Mr. Fleming said heavy trucks are having difficulties at the crossing.

The department, he said, knows that the stop sign is not the answer but is "trying to save someone's life" until a light can be installed.

The commissioner said he believes traffic will be able to move normally at the intersection when it is directed by an officer.

Local Man Jailed In Default Of Fine

Forest V. Page Jr., 26, of 1122 South Spruce Street, yesterday was committed to the County Jail for 15 days in default of a $50 fine imposed at a hearing in Juvenile Court.

Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin found Page guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old local boy.

City Police arrested Page Sunday for buying wine for the local youth. Magistrate Fatkin also found the youth guilty of being a delinquent minor and gave him a warning.

AFL-CIO Council To Meet Tonight

The Western Maryland Central Labor Council, AFL-CIO, will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple.

Plans for the proposed Labor Day picnic will be discussed.

Health Board Backs Code On Housing

Revises Ordinances Dating Back To 1926

A model ordinance on the Hygiene of Housing was recommended to the Mayor and Council yesterday by the City Health Board.

The ordinance was prepared by Olonzo P. Fike, a member of the staff of the State Health Department, who predicted the ordinance, if adopted, will serve as a model for the rest of the state.

The comprehensive set of rules on housing hygiene was prepared by Mr. Fike, housing training consultant for the state unit, to represent the best current thinking on the subject.

Mr. Fike said he used the American Public Health Association's suggested housing code as the background for the ordinance.

Mayor Cites Support

Mayor J. Edwin Keech, who presided at the health board meeting, told members the proposed ordinance was highly recommended last week by R. L. Lundberg, an official of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, who came here to help city officials institute a workable housing improvement program.

The city's housing hygiene regulations were adopted in 1926 and last revised in 1949, and need revision, Mr. Fike said.

Officials said the proposed ordinance will keep the good parts of the ordinance and revise other provisions to bring the code up to date.

Officials said the ordinance spells out details so clearly there can be no question in the mind of those who will use it.

Review City Code

The proposal, Mr. Fike said, is designed to protect not only property owners and tenants but the whole community.

James W. Beacham, local realtor, endorsed the proposal.

Following the Health Board meeting, members met with City Attorney William R. Carscaden to review the city's housing ordinances, so obsolete provisions in the present charter may be deleted.

Police Seminar Planned Today

Some 40 law enforcement officers of Allegany County are expected to attend a seminar being held here today under the sponsorship of the State Police and the Cumberland Police Department.

The one-day meeting will begin at 9 a. m. in the Court Room of the Public Safety Building. Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming will give the address of welcome and introduce speakers and guests.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris will be the principal speaker, briefing the officers on court room procedure.

Instructors, headed by Major M. M. Puncke, of the State Police, will lead courses on local police problems, chemical tests for drunkenness and law enforcement and procedure. Police Chief B. F. Gaffney will be host.

Md. Delegates Get Assurance From Kennedy

Winning Side Decision Seen

By LOUIS G. PANOS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy personally assured Maryland delegates Monday that, by sticking with him, they'll be on the winning side at the Democratic National Convention.

The leading candidate for the party's presidential nomination made a dramatic appearance at the delegation's first caucus since its arrival for the convention opening Monday afternoon.

The gathering had actually begun to break up with the distribution of credentials to the delegates when Kennedy strode into the caucus room at the Biltmore Hotel, convention headquarters.

A wide smile creasing his tanned face, the Massachusetts senator shook hands all around and made a brief speech.

"Over The Top" "I do hope," he said, "that with your support we'll go over the top on Wednesday."

Earlier the delegation had heard Kennedy backers warn that it would be making a big mistake if it toyed with the idea of switching to some other candidate.

Former Mayor Thomas D'Alessandro of Baltimore, a leading supporter of Kennedy, made the point.

It would be regrettable if Maryland made a move too soon in the wrong direction and we missed the caboose," said D'Alessandro.

D'Alessandro's statement was the wind-up of a discussion which came after the only immediate real business of the caucus—the re-election of National Committee member Michael J. Birmingham and National Committeewoman Mildred Otensack.

The former Baltimore mayor had been maneuvering to unseat both, but a party harmony call from State Chairman Thomas B. Finan staved off an open fight.

There was no need for the 71-member delegation to decide at this caucus how it will cast its 24 votes on the first convention ballot for the presidential nomination.

City Council President Philip H. Goodman of Baltimore reminded the group that Kennedy's victory in the Maryland primary gave him legal claim to the Maryland votes so long as his nomination is possible.

"Anything Can Happen" But Albert L. Sklar, member of the Public Service Commission, also reminded his fellow delegates that "anything can happen in a convention."

His message was clear: "Don't overlook the possibility some other candidate might overhaul Kennedy once the balloting begins Wednesday."

"I know we can look to Gov. Tawes for leadership and will follow him in any direction he chooses to take," said Sklar.

Until recent strong indications of an early Kennedy victory, the governor had given the impression that he might choose to take the delegation to Sens. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas or Stuart Symington of Missouri at the earliest possible moment.

Sklar's little speech prompted D'Alessandro to make his stick-with-Kennedy pitch.

The caucus marked the 66-year-old governor's first public appearance before a Maryland group since his June 9 operation for removal of an intestinal growth.

Relaxed and smiling, he assured the delegates, "I'm here, I'm still breathing, and I feel fine."

In the sparring match to oust Birmingham and Mrs. Otensack, with whom he had been at odds in recent campaigns, D'Alessandro had suggested the governor himself for the national committee-man's post.

But Finan's nomination of Birmingham for re-election made clear that Tawes would tolerate
